Traffic flow, safety to get assistance

With the cooperation of Winchester police and town officials, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts expects to correct traffic problems at eight sites in an effort to reduce accidents and promote an easy flow of travel by motor vehicles on local streets.

Monday night selectmen listened to police safety officer John W. McKinley and Lionel Rogers, employed by Storch Engineers and representing the state, as they gave a functional design report on a Topics program to improve highway safety.

Topics is a federal and state funded program to assist communities in traffic situations.

To begin, McKinley reported the four real problem areas in Winchester have already been cleared up. This now leaves eight but to a lesser degree, he said.

In many instances, said McKinley, the new proposal allows for traffic nuisances such as a car trying to enter or exit Pond street.

In most cases, the proposal calls for semi-actuating signals of the type to be required across the nation by 1976.

In an answer to a question from selectmen John J. Sullivan, McKinley said there will be land taking in only one instance.

One location for change is at the intersection of Wildwood and Cambridge street (a state road) where there is presently "a great deal of stacking which ties up traffic."

Sidewalks will be moved back about two to three feet on the corners and Cambridge street will be widened, McKinley and Rogers explained that widening of a road will reduce or eliminate grassy plots between the sidewalk and the road.

Another location due for assistance is at Wildwood and Bacon streets where McKinley said there are as many as 350 cars coming out of Bacon street during peak traffic periods.

Another spot due to receive traffic help is in front of the new McCall Junior High School. Here, crosswalks for pedestrians and wheelchair ramps will be marked and constructed.

The intersection of Washington and Mount Vernon streets is another area where McKinley said there "is a lot of indecision" by motorists. A fully actuating signal and a sign to restrict certain passage is planned.

There will also be a longer island on Mount Vernon street in front of the Town Hall.

And a pedestrian light will be installed at the corner of Forest and Washington streets.

The total cost of the project is $350,000, he said. Seventy percent is federally funded, he noted.

Selectmen, said they will await word from the Planning Board on their opinion of the plan.

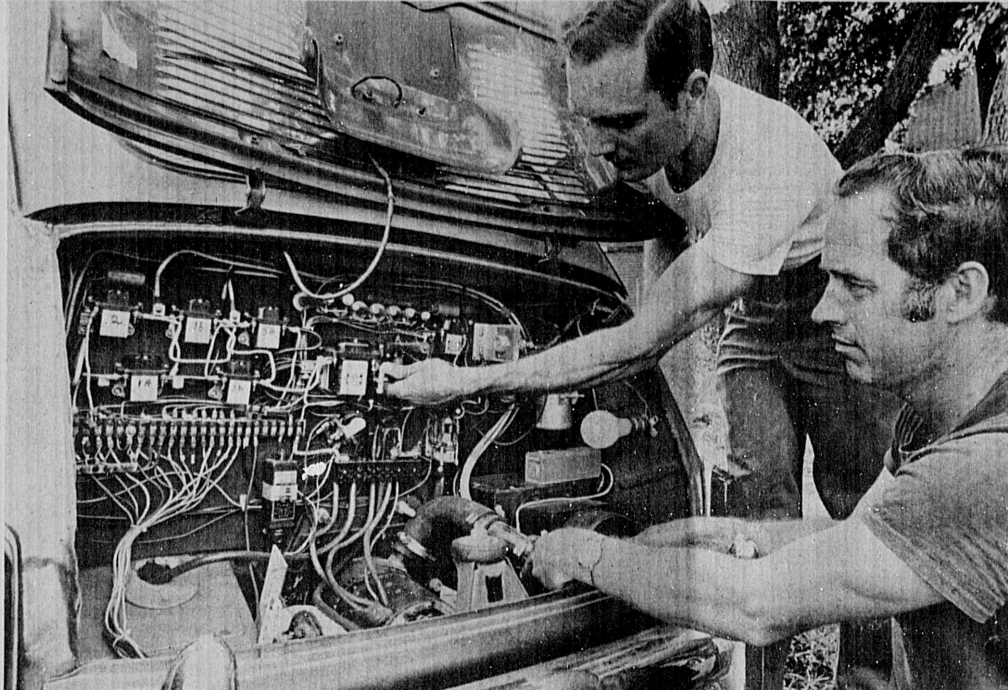

McKinley said when all is approved there will be a public meeting probably in September with work taking place in the spring.

Summer school ends tomorrow

The Winchester Summer School program will conclude tomorrow after six weeks of programs.

There were 814 enrolled with some students taking extra courses.

Twenty-two teachers conducted classes or assisted various elementary and secondary school students.

Has dynamic braking

Converted Fiat becomes gasless carriage

A familiar sight on Winchester streets these days is an electric automobile constructed by John Finch of 9 Hillside ave. and Paul Maxwell of Malden.

The original car was a gas operated 1967 Fiat.

The men bought the car in Andover last November and around Christmas time began their first steps toward transformation.

This included removing the engine, gas tank, radiator and other parts.

The next step was to find a workshop to protect the men from cold weather. This turned out to be a small portable garage in Finch's yard.

Concert series to end August 13

Donald Spinney, recreation department director, announced that the final band concert, will be held behind the library, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 13. (Raindate, Thursday evening, August 14).

This summer's concert series will be climaxed with a presentation of the "1812 Overture" by Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky. The rousing strains at the conclusion of the selection will be augmented by the ringing of bells and the discharge of muskets by the Reading Company of Militia and Minutemen commanded by Captain George Gray of Reading.

They worked nights and weekends in addition to continuing with their regular job as electricians for Moulton Electric.

Parts were then collected or constructed "from any available source," said Finch.

One of his sons, Danny, with the help of his teacher at McCall Junior High School, built the sheet metal box which houses the low-speed resistors used to supply heat in the winter.

The drive motor is an aircraft generator which Maxwell got at a used parts store. It is cooled by a thermostatically controlled vacuum motor which draws air through the motor and resistor box to provide defrost heat in the winter or can be vented out in the summer.

Finch feels an exclusive feature of the electric car is its dynamic braking which allows batteries to be recharged while braking or going down hills.

The car is powered by nine Sears 48-month 12 volt lead acid batteries.

The battery selector switch allows one to read each battery's condition and will charge a low battery additional 3 amps when selected in the charging mode, said Finch.

Three batteries can supply 12 volts for accessories when switched on to a 12-volt bus line feeding the car's original electrical system.

The emergency brake handle has interlock switching to open the drive control circuit and to put on an individual light on the panel (key on) when the brake is pulled.

The top speed of the car is 40-45 mph. The cruising speed is about 35 mph.

As for distance, said Finch, the car will get about 25 miles to a charge. With some improvements, the men hope 35-45 miles to a charge may be attained. This is approximately 1 1/2 cents a mile.

The car can be plugged into any house 110 volt outlet.

The cost of the conversion was about $700, said Finch.

The car, now garaged at Finch's home, was on display recently during Town Day activities.

Finch and his wife have four sons and three daughters and are foster parents to babies up to age four.

Their son Danny has a 125 Honda which he hopes to convert to an electric motorcycle with the help of his father and Maxwell.

Maxwell is a bachelor who lives with his mother in Malden.

Special police salaries now under review

Selectmen recently discussed the salary schedule pertaining to special police officers.

This was prompted by a letter to them from town meeting member Michael D. Saraco who said he has recently been contacted by several special police officers, now on duty with the Winchester Police Dept., asking for clarification of the amendment.

Saraco proposed and which was adopted at the 1974 annual town meeting.

Saraco recalls his amendment called for paying the minimum rate to a special police officer inasmuch as their duties were "identical" to those of a regular officer.

"When a call is received for the ambulance, an accident, a complaint of a prowler or burglar alarm, the police respond and little does one realize the officer is a special or a regular police officer," Saraco said.

He noted special police officers must purchase their own uniforms and foul weather gear while a regular received his free. "The least we as citizens of Winchester can do is compensate the special officer at the minimum or first step of the rate that is paid a regular."

Saraco said he has learned special officers only received this rate during the fiscal year 1975 and as of July 1 are no longer receiving "a rate equal to the minimum or first step of that paid a regular officer."

Police Chief Edward F. Bowler met with selectmen recently and discussed the matter. Bowler acknowledged he and the Personnel Board are aware of the situation. However, he argued paying special officers the same as regular career officers inasmuch as special officers are not as qualified. He said they do not participate in the mandatory 10 weeks of training required of regular officers. He said special officers are "not as valuable."

The chief agreed special officers should receive increases but there should remain "a narrow gap" between the base pay.

Selectman John J. Sullivan said if town meeting voted to make a change, this change should be consistent in successive years.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar said he would agree with the chief "if people just want work for the summer."

Says Beaton, "The alcohol problem is very definitely as alarming as the drug problem."

Guidance counselor head at the high school, Anthony DiBiase, and high school principal Vincent LaRocco make no bones about the fact that drinking goes on at the high school.

According to both, however, "We're only seeing the tip of the iceberg," as DiBiase put it.

"There's less drinking during the school day than at church and school dances during the evenings," commented LaRocco.

While he and LaRocco admitted they've smelled liquor on the breaths and clothes of students, LaRocco emphasized, "It's difficult to suspend on suspicion. A student might say it was cough medicine."

"You must catch them with the liquor bottle right in their hands," he added.

LaRocco pointed to the front parking lot of the high school as he explained about the broken bottles and half-filled beer cans found recently.

Police chief seeks help from clergy, courts on vandalism

In a report on vandalism to selectmen recently, Police Chief Edward F. Bowler called for assistance from Winchester clergymen and involvement by the courts.

"Vandalism is a perplexing subject," said the chief as he reported on two study groups on the matter and their seeming lack to make much progress in the way of combatting continual destruction to town property.

Those who have participated in discussions on vandalism last spring were police, selectmen, members of the League of Women Voters, and parents and teachers. "But there needs to be something from the clergy and courts," said the chief. "Attitudes need to be corrected."

Selectmen chairman Lawrence Smith asked about the record of restitution by Winchester's vandals.

The chief has had no statistics at hand but noted the juvenile officer has kept a record of perpetrations to private property offenses.

In the schools, the chief said, the matter is for the most part in the hands of the school principals who would rather have students do work of refurbishing than to press charges against students.

The chief said, "We feel malicious vandalism should go to court with the court arranging restitution."

He said he was not aware of a school policy regarding vandalism and was not sure if principals refer to the School Committee on such matters.

The subject of the public drinking law came into the discussion. Smith asked Bowler about enforcement of the public drinking law.

Bowler said the law has helped somewhat but police have no power of arrest per se because the public drinking law is not a state statute, only a town by-law.

He said he feels the public drinking by-law valid. At least now drinkers don't put a case of beer on top of their cars out in the public, he said.

He voiced concern over the public's attitude toward drinking. While the public is against drugs and crime, they "tolerate drinking," said the chief.

He noted there is much teen-age drinking in Winchester. Police lock up many over the weekends. There have been three arrests for intoxication, he said.

Referring to teen-age drinkers, the chief said, "We chase them from one location to another. They go everywhere but home."

The chief said, "Kids have no home life." He said it is very common for parents to go away for a month with kids out on the street or holding parties in their homes.

"Police are not their baby sitters though," said Bowler who noted that all complaints are investigated.

Homeowners who are victims of vandalism, said the chief, will expect parents to pay. However, taxpayers have "no disposition to get involved when there is damage to public property."

Selectmen John J. Sullivan said he found it difficult to grasp the scope of the problem and called for keeping track of incidents and a record of restitution.

Bowler said he was certain the School Department has a form which the custodian or other employee completes to describe each incident of vandalism involving school property.

After discussion, selectmen agreed they would like to have all town departments keep a similar record with all incidents being reported to one central place - the Police Department.

Sgt. Roland Roy, who accompanied Bowler when he talked with selectmen, said he favors having kids do work in lieu of parents paying for vandalism.

Roy, who noted he spends much of his time in the Woburn District Court, finds Winchester's vandalism record to be "zilch" compared to other towns.

A Winchester doctor, guidance counselor, teacher, juvenile officer and school principal think lowering the drinking age to 18 was a mistake.

"This has been proven by the increase of car accidents and arrests for this age group," noted juvenile officer Richard Beaton.

According to Dr. Donald McLean of Church street, "During the bad years of the drug scene there was little alcohol intake."

"As the drug scene improved there was an obvious shift in the increase of the taking of beer, wine and hard liquors."

"Then the state went and pulled that ridiculous thing - lowering the drinking age."

Beaton commented the law "added to the problem because whereas before, a 21-year-old would buy for 17 and 18-year-olds, now 18-year-olds buy for 14 or 15-year-olds."

McLean added police inform him it's relatively simple to tell the difference between a 16-year-old and a 21-year-old, but near impossible to discern a 16 from an 18-year-old.

According to high school teacher William O'Connor, "The lowering of the drinking age to 18 effectively lowered the prevalence of drink to ages 15 and 16."

"Prior to this teenagers were drinking - there's no sense in kidding ourselves - but it was more frowned upon and harder to obtain."

Authorities agree drugs and alcohol have a direct correlation.

"With a decline in drugs there was an increase in alcohol consumption," noted Officer Beaton.

Although the thought may be alarming to many, alcohol is a drug and should not be separated from it.

"If I read communities right," offered O'Connor, "parents are frightened of drugs but they don't view alcohol as a drug."

"Their attitude is that if their son is caught drinking, thank God it's not grass. It's as though they are condoning drinking because it's a socially acceptable thing."

An Al-Anon member concurs, "Some parents say, 'I'm so glad my child drinks instead of taking drugs.'"

"They don't understand its severity," she added.

Says Beaton, "The alcohol problem is very definitely as alarming as the drug problem."

Guidance counselor head at the high school, Anthony DiBiase, and high school principal Vincent LaRocco make no bones about the fact that drinking goes on at the high school.

According to both, however, "We're only seeing the tip of the iceberg," as DiBiase put it.

Teen-age alcoholism on rise as use of drugs declines

A Winchester doctor, guidance counselor, teacher, juvenile officer and school principal think lowering the drinking age to 18 was a mistake.

"This has been proven by the increase of car accidents and arrests for this age group," noted juvenile officer Richard Beaton.

According to Dr. Donald McLean of Church street, "During the bad years of the drug scene there was little alcohol intake."

"As the drug scene improved there was an obvious shift in the increase of the taking of beer, wine and hard liquors."

"Then the state went and pulled that ridiculous thing - lowering the drinking age."

"Their attitude is that if their son is caught drinking, thank God it's not grass. It's as though they are condoning drinking because it's a socially acceptable thing."

An Al-Anon member concurs, "Some parents say, 'I'm so glad my child drinks instead of taking drugs.'"

"They don't understand its severity," she added.

Says Beaton, "The alcohol problem is very definitely as alarming as the drug problem."

Guidance counselor head at the high school, Anthony DiBiase, and high school principal Vincent LaRocco make no bones about the fact that drinking goes on at the high school.

According to both, however, "We're only seeing the tip of the iceberg," as DiBiase put it.

"There's less drinking during the school day than at church and school dances during the evenings," commented LaRocco.

While he and LaRocco admitted they've smelled liquor on the breaths and clothes of students, LaRocco emphasized, "It's difficult to suspend on suspicion. A student might say it was cough medicine."

"You must catch them with the liquor bottle right in their hands," he added.

LaRocco pointed to the front parking lot of the high school as he explained about the broken bottles and half-filled beer cans found recently.

DiBiase, member of a task force committee on alcoholism, noted "Lots of kids confine their drinking to weekends."

And Principal LaRocco resents the tendency on the part of the community "to isolate the problem as belonging to the school."

He and Beaton stress the responsibility of the parents.

"The police are not chaperones," the latter commented. According to Dr. McLean, individual cases of teenage drunkenness have not been repeated.

"I have not been called to treat the same youngster twice," he said. "I don't know if it's because they stop drinking, they don't go as far the next time, or because they know how to handle themselves."

"Most are first time offenders. There are very few second time ones," Beaton agreed.

This by no means signifies that teenagers' alcohol consumption is lessening.

According to an Al-Anon member, "A lot of young people are heavy drinkers, but many haven't gone across that invisible line between social and alcoholic drinking."

McLean feels teenagers drink because, "It's legal, they won't be as hassled as they would if they were taking drugs."

"Also, whenever young people do anything, it's in relation to the tensions of the times. They feel they must find their own escape."

According to Vincent LaRocco, part of the teenage alcoholism problem is an "adult society of which alcohol is a normal part."

"Let's face it," offered Anthony DiBiase, "a lot of adults in Winchester drink." He noted peer pressure which also spurs many teens on to drinking.

LaRocco cited the high cost of entertainment as another excuse for teenagers to turn to alcohol.

"You can get two six packs for three dollars," he commented. "A 'cheap' date costs $10 nowadays."

DiBiase said he's been told by teens that, "It's very easy to get beer for 25 cents."

The problem appears to outweigh any solutions. "I've thought and thought about it and I'm no closer to a solution than when I started," sighed LaRocco.

According to O'Connor, seniors at the high school may participate in a course entitled, "Issues of the 70's" which has a unit devoted to teenage drinking.

Speakers from Alcoholics Anonymous, films and pamphlets give students an "objective, straightforward presentation," he said.

Sixth and seventh graders may take a course called "Human Growth," an expansion of a former drug problem course, which deals in part with alcohol.

According to Dr. McLean, "Parents must instill in their children the idea of moderation in drink, bring them up with the idea of the dangers in drinking and driving and keep track of their own liquor supply."

"The controls must come from priorities at the home level."

Vincent LaRocco commented on the need for more "subtle, forceful education."

John L. Doherty, was retired road construction executive

John L. Doherty of 137 Highland av. died while boating off Cape Cod and was pronounced dead on arrival at Cape Cod Hospital Monday.

A summer resident of West Harwich, he was apparently in good health but was unexpectedly stricken while boating. He was 75 years of age.

Mr. Doherty was a retired executive with the Perini Construction Company.

He was born in Woburn, the son of the late John H. and Elizabeth (McHugh) Doherty. He attended Woburn schools and went on to graduate from Tufts University School of Engineering with a degree in civil engineering.

He was cited by Tufts in 1921 as an outstanding graduate in the field of engineering and was presented a distinguished service award.

His career as a construction engineer was launched with the State Dept. of Public Works. In 1930 he was engaged by the Perini Corporation.

One of his first projects was the construction of the Worcester Turnpike. While on that task, he was credited with revolutionizing the road construction process by modernizing the application of concrete. Up to that time, road crew could set concrete about a mile per day, but with his design innovation, this was increased to five miles and more per day. The process is used to this date.

In a relatively short period, he was promoted with the Perini firm to vice-president and general manager in charge of road construction. Later he took a seat on the board of directors.

Since his retirement, Mr. Doherty acted as consultant to the Perini firm and as honorary member of the board of directors.

Other projects in which he was involved included Logan Airport, the Mass. Turnpike and the Maine Turnpike, all of which were completed under his direction.

He was a member of Moles, an organization composed of underground tunnel workers, the Winchester Knights of Columbus No. 210, St. Mary's Holy Name Society and he was past rear commander of the Allen Harbor Yacht Club, Cape Cod.

He lived in Winchester for the past 42 years.

He leaves his wife, Celia J. (Forbes) Doherty, a son, John F. Doherty of Winchester, a daughter, Mary Jane Curran of West Harwich, and a brother, Charles E. Doherty of Woburn; also nine grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral mass will be celebrated this morning at 9:15 at St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn.

Donations in his memory may be given to the charity of donor's choice.

Miriam E. Corey

Miriam Elizabeth Corey of Reading, wife of the late Preston E. Corey, a Winchester native, died in her 90th year Monday at Winchester Hospital.

Private funeral service will be held today in the chapel of Norris Funeral Home. Rev. Robert Samuelson of the First Congregational Church, Reading, will officiate.

Mrs. Corey was born in Dorchester. Her parents were George and Sarah E. (Whitaker) Pope.

At the time of her death, she resided with her daughter, Beatrice E. Corey of Reading. She leaves another daughter, Mrs. Evelyn M. Holmes of Wakefield, and a grandson, Jeffrey P. Holmes.

Burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Cambridge resident, drowning victim at Sandy Beach

Barry Kaplan, 26, of Cambridge, was identified as the drowning victim at Sandy Beach, Mystic Lakes, Sunday Afternoon.

He was identified by his father, Albert H. Kaplan of Woburn, who accompanied police to Lane Funeral Home where identification was made.

Douglas Fritch, son of Mrs. Nancy Bigelow Fritch and the late Mr. Fritch, formerly of Winchester, puts finishing touches on quarterboards prepared for the town of Newburyport for its Bicentennial celebration. Signs were made by Douglas, a senior at Williams College, at his Nantucket studio. He's been spending summers on the island since birth. The boy's mother is a real estate broker in Winchester.

(Photo: Larry Barton)

Celebrating its final week of the summer, the Six Weeks Adventure program is holding the annual pot-luck supper tonight and a picnic at the Sheepfold in Stoneham tomorrow afternoon.

Guided by director Paul Thompson and specialists, campers, juniors and adults were involved in biking, tennis, music, sewing, tie-dyeing and sand terrariums in this program sponsored by the First Congregational Church where suburban and urban youngsters get together.

The children swam twice a week in private Winchester pools and took field trips each Friday to the Children's Museum, the New England Aquarium, Drumlin Farm and the Magic Circle Theatre at Tufts University.

According to Janet Boone, coordinator, "...perhaps the most rewarding part of the program has been the fun of working and communicating with a really wonderful group of Winchester teenagers — our junior volunteers."

Every Monday night at 8:30 p.m. at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st., there will be a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Everyone is welcome.

Beano rules under review

Selectmen are reviewing a list of rules to govern Beano games in Winchester and expect to have this finalized by Aug. 11.

In open discussion at a recent selectmen's meeting, executive secretary Edward Donnelly explained the list of regulations was patterned after those used in Medford.

Donnelly said fire chief I. Francis Amico has reviewed the list and offered recommendations pertaining to fire safety.

While Medford limits the number of persons who will be allowed on the premises during Beano play (100), selectmen agreed not to limit the number in Winchester.

Selectman John J. Sullivan said if the number becomes a problem, he expects the police chief will come to them asking for modification of the rules.

Though selectmen were in agreement the Medford rules are adequate, selectman Arthur Dunbar suggested looking to other communities to see what they are doing.

He asked to have selectman William Chapman, who was not present during the discussion, review the list. Chapman is the board's sub-committee on such matters.

Dunbar said he will have to have clarification on some of the rules before he can vote for them.

His associates, who were ready to accept the majority of the list, agreed to defer the final vote until Aug. 11 allowing Chapman time for review.

Three Beano licenses have been granted in Winchester.

'Bill of Rights' for nonsmokers new state law as of October 9

(News item: After a three-year effort by Bay State health professionals, legislators and private citizens, Massachusetts now has a law to help nonsmokers in their quest for smoke-free breathing areas.)

Whew! And amen! From a former smoker and gross offender: now nonsmoker and nonoffender. It has been a long time coming. Too long!

You have to have been an addict of the evil weed to know how offensive you must have been to those fortunate who did not smoke but were in circumstances that forced them to be near you when you did smoke. Mea culpa! They will get the break they have long deserved.

The writer stopped cold turkey ten years ago, never to light up again, never to cough again from self-imposed lung pollution, never to gasp in the morning, at the noon hour, in the evening, at night. Alas, all day and all night long.

But it is not the thought of what the smoker was inflicting upon himself, but upon those around him. Having abandoned the habit, one does not wear the halo for long, but is ever aware of his lack of consideration for those around him. For them, it must have been sheer misery.

Fortunately all such offensiveness, that almost nauseous suffering by nonsmokers may be but a distant, smoky memory lost in the haze of the past. At long last they are being rewarded by that right which should have been theirs in the beginning — freedom to breathe clean, or at least non-smoke-polluted air in public places.

For those who care, here is the rest of the news item issued by the Middlesex-Cambridge Lung Association. Read it and rejoice. Sing hallelujah, brother, a new day has come. Relief at last!

Governor Michael Dukakis has signed into law "An Act To Prohibit Or Restrict Smoking In Certain Public Places," which will go into effect October 9. With this Act, Massachusetts joins at least 19 other states that have passed laws restricting a habit that is harmful to both smokers and nonsmokers. Representative

Lois G. Pines (D-Newton) is the author of the bill.

The legislation prohibits smoking in public elevators, supermarkets, and MBTA conveyances. Also, smoking is restricted to designated areas in museums, libraries, hospitals, nursing homes, trains, airplanes, and other mass transit conveyances.

The law also states that "an appropriate number of signs" shall be posted to show the designated No Smoking areas. The Middlesex-Cambridge Lung Association is offering a limited number of these signs, conforming to all legal requirements, free of charge. The signs, as well as other materials, are available to anyone who would like to set up these No Smoking areas, either by law or voluntarily.

Chaplain Walter E. Kloss, president of the Lung Association, a co-sponsor of the bill, said that, "though the Act does not cover all public places we originally intended (notably schools and government offices), it sets a healthy precedent for both smokers and nonsmokers. Actually, the law should just be used as a last resort when all other attempts at getting a smoker to stop have failed."

"In fact, a recent survey about the Commonwealth has shown that most smokers will usually comply with a no smoking request. And of course, national figures indicate that 64 percent of adult Americans are nonsmokers...a clear majority. This law, then, promotes a sort of 'peaceful coexistence' between smokers and nonsmokers."

The new no smoking law drew active support from many legislators in both the House and Senate. Representative Pines was joined in the House by Representative Garreth Lynch (D-Westfield), an admitted smoker yet a strong supporter of "nonsmokers' rights." Senator Chester G. Atkins (D-Acton) helped to carry the bill through the Senate.

For more information, contact the Middlesex-Cambridge Lung Association, the Christmas Seal People. It's a matter of life and breath.

Tax reform needed as it relates to public schools

By William H. Hebert

With so much heat rising from the current controversy over the desperate need for more taxes and how to raise them so that Massachusetts can bail itself out of its present fiscal difficulties, one extremely important issue seems to have been overlooked. That is the matter of tax reform, particularly reform which is related to the funding of public schools.

It is not enough merely to expand the percentages of our revenue-raising techniques in order to balance the budget, the governor and the legislature should turn their attention to the business of rewriting tax legislation so that Massachusetts obtains its money and funds its programs more efficiently and fairly.

With this in mind, I'd like to bring to the attention of all Massachusetts citizens the school finance plan of the Massachusetts Teachers Association (MTA), which attacks head-on the problem of providing substantial relief to the homeowner and rent payer, and at the same time attempts to equalize educational opportunity throughout the state.

For two years MTA has submitted to the legislature a sizeable tax reform package, the essence of which is to equalize educational opportunity and at the same time ease the burden of property taxes.

In percent of personal income, Massachusetts has the highest property taxes in the nation!

The MTA calls for 50 percent state responsibility for school funding in the first year of operation, and culminates in 75 percent state assumption of school cost within five years, combined with a method of equalizing per pupil expenditures in every community in order to offer equality of opportunity in those cities and towns which are unable to raise as much money as wealthier communities.

William H. Hebert is executive secretary treasurer of the Massachusetts Teachers Association.

Along with this, MTA has also filed a companion tax relief bill which would reduce the state income tax for senior citizens and persons of low income who pay relatively high property taxes.

MTA urges all citizens to support this legislative package. It will mean significant property tax savings to homeowners and rent payers and at the same time will correct the enormous discrepancies in pupil expenditures now rampant in the Commonwealth.

Under the MTA School Finance Plan, the greatest aid would be channeled to school districts with the largest number of disadvantaged children and the most need for fiscal relief. Last year, for example, Brookline spent $2,235 per pupil while Leominster spent $805.

This kind of disparity does a great injustice to the children of Leominster and to children in cities and towns similar to Leominster, whose only failing appears to be that they reside in communities which find it difficult to raise enough money from property taxes to spend adequate sums on education.

Under the MTA plan, only the wealthiest communities would continue to rely on some property taxes but in any cities and towns these taxes would still be lower than they are today.

MTA has been seeking major changes in school funding since 1973 when the organization commissioned an extensive study of alternative methods of financing public schools with the objective of determining which method best meets the demands of equal educational opportunity while also providing substantial property tax relief.

USA needs far-reaching legislation to deal with current, oil shortages

By Torbert Macdonald

During the last two weeks, Congress has put forth as great an effort as I have seen it display in a long time to find a reasonable solution to the rapidly deteriorating energy situation. This has been a very frustrating time for the Congress, and especially for me as all our efforts have been met with inflexible, unreasonable opposition from the President.

The need for some sort of far reaching legislation to deal with current and oncoming oil shortages is obvious. The Congress has been working for two and a half years now to establish such a program. However, the only bill so far to be passed by both the House and the Senate and signed into law by the President is a bill which I authored and guided through Congress two years ago when the need for such legislation first arose. The bill is the Mandatory Allocation Act which gives authority to the Federal Energy Administration to allocate crude oil and oil products in amounts and prices required to provide for the protection of the public health, safety, and welfare and maintenance of public services and agricultural operations. This law expires on August 31, and with it, existing government controls on the price of presently controlled oil will also expire. Without these controls, the price of oil will rise from the present $5.25 a barrel to over $13.25 per barrel. This would be a crushing blow to our already ailing economy. The imminent expiration of this Act is the reason Congress has fought so hard these last two weeks to resolve the bitter conflict between the Executive and Legislative branches of government over a national energy policy.

The Congress's first proposal to deal with this immediate problem went to the President on July 21. The bill contained an extension of my Mandatory Allocation Act, and, in addition, increased the time Congress could disapprove a Presidential plan to decontrol the price of oil, and rolled back the current price of oil. The President is diametrically opposed to both a reduction in oil prices and is for a complete deregulation of oil prices. At least this is the reason he gave for vetoing this bill. Support of this bill was not strictly along party lines so there were not enough votes in the House or the Senate to override the veto, for oil producing states were leaders in the fight to de-regulate all prices on oil prices.

Many of my colleagues agreed with me that it was necessary to reduce the current price of oil to protect American consumers from the devastating impact of ever increasing energy prices. President Ford feels that all price controls on oil should be lifted. He reasons that increased prices for oil will lead to reduced oil consumption. The President submitted to Congress his plan to phase out existing controls over a 36-month period and his plan was rejected. Substantial price increases over 30 months do not provide the time this economy needs to rebound from our current recession.

Also, during the past two weeks, the House has been working on a comprehensive "Energy Conservation and Oil Policy Act" which includes a ceiling on the price of "new" domestic oil production, energy conservation measures, and a General Accounting Office audit of oil industry energy data and information. The debate on this bill has centered primarily around the issue of price controls.

The President's co-horts, on the one hand, feel that all price controls on oil should be lifted. This would cause prices to increase drastically which the President feels would result in a reduction in oil consumption and dependence on foreign oil. An amendment to lift the existing controls was offered during discussion of the Energy Conservation and Oil Policy Act and defeated.

The near quadrupling of oil prices in the world market in 1973 and 1974 caused a severe shock to the world economy and has this nation in a recession from which we are trying desperately to lift ourselves. At this time our economy just cannot take a further shock of another sudden increase in the price of oil. As the cost of domestic oil increases, the costs of heating oil, electricity, gasoline, consumer goods and services increase accordingly. No segments of the economy are not touched by oil price increases. From a time a person wakes up in the morning until he goes to sleep at night, he uses products which will be dramatically affected by an increase in the price of oil. In addition, our intolerable levels of unemployment will be further increased. With this in mind, I strongly supported an amendment to cut back the current price of oil, which would ease the burden on the consumer and at the same time, would provide sufficient incentive for oil producers to explore for new oil sources, for Secretary of the Treasury, William Simon said last year before my Subcommittee—and I quote—"the price of $7 a barrel will be sufficient to bring supply and demand into balance. Any price higher than that creates a windfall—a price to producers which is more than producers have anticipated when investments were made, and more than that required to produce all that we can in fact expect to be supplied."

Unfortunately, this amendment was also defeated. Finally, after days of discussion on oil pricing, an amendment was approved striking all pricing provisions.

On July 25, the President offered what he referred to as his last "compromise" proposal on oil pricing. His plan this time was to decontrol oil prices over a 39 month period, which I do not consider a compromise at all. This proposal was rejected.

Finally, on July 31, the House approved a simple extension of my Mandatory Allocation Act which is to expire on August 31. This is absolutely necessary to prevent prices from skyrocketing to the unreasonable OPEC oil price levels.

During Floor consideration of the Mandatory Allocation Act extension I gave an illustration of the President's so-called willingness to compromise. It is as if a man goes in to buy a new car. He sees one worth $12,000 and offers the dealer $9,000. The dealer says that he wants $15,000 and the man offers $8,000. The salesman says, "No—since your last offer, the price has increased to $18,000," knowing all the time that the man will never accept that figure. The salesman then claims that the buyer refused to compromise with him when he does not buy the car.

The President, who wants price controls lifted anyway, is not the least bit interested in "a real compromise" with the Congress. All he has to do is wait for the Allocation Act to expire in order to implement his plan of reducing consumption by decontrolling oil prices. However, the extension of the Act passed the House and Senate by two-thirds margins indicating that if the President does veto this measure it can be overridden. For the sake of the American consumer, and especially the oil dependent New England consumer, I fervently hope that the President will not allow oil prices to be decontrolled on August 31. The American economy would not be able to absorb such a devastating blow and the consumer cannot and should not be subjected to such an unfair increase in the price of oil.

No word from town

The following is a letter to Frank Curtis of the Winchester Bicentennial Committee, Board of Selectmen and Sarah R. Cincotta, town meeting member, from the University of California Band, American Revolution Bicentennial Tour, Berkeley, Calif.

Dear Mr. Curtis,

I was informed yesterday that the entire New England and New York portions of the Cal Band Bicentennial Tour have been booked and contracts have been signed — except in the Boston area.

The booking committee has been very patient with me while I have been trying to bring the Cal Band to my home town — but I have learned that within the next two weeks, a massive campaign will be launched in eastern Massachusetts to invite any city or town that is interested to participate in the Cal Band Bicentennial Tour.

The committee expects to have a contract with a Boston-area sponsor within four months for a performance on July 14, 1976.

I have met with you and the selectmen of the town. I have sent you all the latest information regarding the tour. But I have not heard one word from you or the selectmen in nearly seven months.

I am not looking for a firm commitment now, but I do wish an expression of interest demonstrating that the Town of Winchester is actively preparing to make such a commitment.

It is time that the town move on this issue before participation in the Cal Band Tour is given to a neighboring community.

David E. Cincotta

Cooks go on vacation but leave their recipes behind

BY ELIZABETH
Star Columnist

It's hard to find much cooking in Winchester kitchens this long hot summer.

But if the cooks are gone, they have left their recipes behind for the industrious collector and recreational cookbook reader like me.

Rev. Robert Storer, pastor emeritus of the Winchester Unitarian Church, scarcely stopped long enough in Winchester this summer after a stint as a director of play at a community playhouse in San Antonio before leaving on a brief European vacation.

He's not cooking, but his fish chowder recipe is in the files of recipe collector and cook Mrs. Marie Henry.

Bob Storer's Chowder
(serves 12)

5 pounds haddock fillet, cooked, flaked
6 large potatoes, peeled and diced
2 quarts milk
1 can evaporated milk
8 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons diced salt pork
2 large onions, sliced
1 bottle clam broth
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Fry salt pork, save scraps to garnish chowder. Saute onions in fat and butter until golden. Add potatoes and enough water to cover — barely. Cook until tender. Add clam broth, seasonings and sliced scallops if you use them. Let simmer a few minutes. Do not boil!

Add two kinds of milk and the fish. Heat to scalding. Strain the liquid in which the haddock was cooked and use it to thin out the chowder if necessary. To cook the fish: simply cover it with water — barely — and poach it slowly until it flakes when pierced with a fork. Fish needs very little cooking. Pick the cooked fish off the bones and strain the liquid. Garnish chowder with the browned pork scraps.

Metco clarified

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It has been very disturbing to me to have misleading information bandied about regarding Winchester's participation in the Metco program.

I feel I owe the townspeople an explanation of the motion which I made at the July 28 School Committee meeting.

As of that date Winchester had not yet received confirmation from the state that 100 percent of the funds requested for implementation of the program would be available.

The intent of my motion was twofold: to expedite a commitment from the state; to establish a cut-off date.

The precise motion read: "I move, Mr. Chairman, that if certain important and vital information is not received from the Division of Equal Educational Opportunity, the state Department of Education, and Metco, Inc., by a date selected by our superintendent, the Winchester School Committee will meet on that date at 7:30 p.m. to consider its vote, and withdraw its pending invitation and contract for the implementation of the Metco program in Winchester for September, 1975."

Mr. Noble seconded the motion and the vote was 3-1; Mrs. Fallon voting in the negative; Mr. Noble, Mr. Phare and myself voting in the affirmative; Mr. Parkhurst and Mr. Frank absent.

There is much planning to be done and very little time left before schools open in which to do it.

I firmly believe in the sincerity of the entire committee in its stated intent that the program will not cost the taxpayers of Winchester any additional monies.

Therefore I believe that it is senseless to allow 45 innocent youngsters to become involved in the program if there is any doubt that the funds will be forthcoming.

Cyclists are tired, dirty but fulfilled

Thare MacDonald, 19, of 29 Mystic ave., said he'd bicycle across country again for the cancer crusade, but this time he'd go from the west coast to east coast because, "the winds were a pain."

After obtaining pledges of from a penny a mile to a tenth of a cent, MacDonald and David Bower, 20, of 73 Yale st., departed May 7 and traveled 3,550 miles to Los Angeles in 41 days.

While the money is not completely collected, MacDonald estimates a $500 total contribution due to their cycling efforts.

Most of the money was from his and Bower's friends, MacDonald notes. One cancer victim in Wyoming gave him $5, he said.

According to MacDonald, the trip was "a combination of fun and making money for the crusade."

He emphasized the "personal satisfaction," and added, "Everything was great about it."

Averaging 93 miles a day, the youths had to use secondary roads in place of interstate highways since bicycles are prohibited.

Although the east coast has more secondary roads than the west coast, MacDonald said they had little problem taking alternative routes.

He laughed about an interstate highway in Wyoming which he and Bower were forced to take.

"It was 40 miles uphill with the wind in our faces,"

According to MacDonald, the boys roughed it all the way, camping out and eating over campfires. Splurging meant a meal at MacDonald's Hamburgers.

A student at Boston College, MacDonald said he rides his bicycle 25 miles to school each day. Getting in shape didn't take much doing.

Neither did Bower prepare a great deal for the trip. According to MacDonald his friend did not own a bicycle prior to the trip, and bought one specially for it.

The youths spent two weeks in Los Angeles recuperating. MacDonald noted "the luxury" of a shower after a dirty, dusty, tiring trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas B. Taylor

Richards-Taylor wedding authenticates medieval era

The Sheepfold of the Middlesex Fells Reservation was the setting for the medieval type wedding of Virginia Fair Richards and Nicholas Benedict Taylor July 26 at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Philander Richards of 354 Main St.

The bridegroom is the son of Rev. Alva Melbourne Taylor of Milford, who performed the ceremony, and Mrs. Elwood Williams of Rutland.

Escorted by their parents, the couple carried wreaths of red and white roses with which they crowned each other during the ceremony.

The bride wore a white slipper-satin princess line gown with gold trim, a gold lined white satin cape and ground length veil pinned to a gold wire crown.

The bridegroom wore a white slipper-satin tunic and hose with gold trim, a white floor length gold lined and trimmed satin cape, white boots and gold fillet.

Catherine Marshall Richman of Wilmett, Ill., was maid of honor. She wore a verdant green satin princess line gown with gold trim. Wearing a wreath of marigolds, the traditional Saxon wedding flower, and roses, she carried a sheaf of wheat with roses. Flower girls were Alice O'Neil of Brookhaven, N. Y., and Jenny Taylor of New Braintree, nieces of the bridegroom.

They wore gold satin princess line dresses with gold trim and wreaths and carried staffs wrapped in marigolds and wheat.

Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Murray Richards of Burlington, Vt. and Katherine Ann Richards and Patricia Fair Richards, both of Winchester, all sisters of the bride. Marceline Amanda Murray of Farmington, Me., cousin of the bride; and Claudia Taylor O'Neil of Brookhaven, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom.

They wore gold satin princess line gowns with gold trim and wreaths of marigolds, and carried sheaves of wheat with marigolds.

Chief groomsmen were Thomas James Spisak of Cambridge. Groomsmen were Stephen Eugene Taylor of New Braintree and Tracy Melbourne Taylor of Rutland, brothers of the bridegroom; Robert Philander Richards Jr. of Winchester, brother of the bride; Fernando Juan Salazar of Buffalo, N. Y.; and Thomas Courtney of West Seneca, N. Y.

Pages were Charles Coursen Murray 3rd. and Christopher Winter Murray, both cousins of the bride from Farmington, Me.

Groomsmen and pages wore black satin tunics and hose with gold trim and black boots.

The groomsmen carried short swords while pages carried lances.

The bride and bridegroom met in the Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc., a medievalist organization which helped prepare the reception in the Fells and feast that night.

Many wedding guests wore medieval style garb.

The new Mrs. Taylor, a Boston University student, was raised in Farmington, Me.

The bridegroom graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology recently. He is a native of Huron, S. D.

Their wedding trip is in Ohio where the SCA is holding its fourth annual war disputing the borders between its kingdoms of the Great Lakes region and the east coast.

Library presents puppet theater

On Aug. 14 at 2:30 p.m. the Winchester Junior Library is presenting a performance by the Poobley Greedy Puppet Theater.

The show, developed for the Massachusetts Bicentennial Commission, is entitled "Hard Knox" and tells the true story of Henry Knox who brought 59 pieces of artillery from Fort Ticonderoga to Dorchester Heights in 1776.

The play has been researched so hair styles, fabrics, colors, clothes and accessories are authentic.

Included in the show are three kinds of puppets: glove, rod and string.

Besides telling the important role Massachusetts played during the revolution, a demonstration after the performance gives an introduction to puppetry.

Children entering first grade through those going into junior high school may attend. Admission will be on a first-come basis.

Seniors play weekly bridge

The Winchester Senior Citizens play bridge every Thursday at the Woburn Rehabilitation Center. Patients and senior citizens play together at 1:30 p.m. in the air-conditioned dining room. Any seniors who would like to join but need a ride, call Sara Dillon at the Recreation Department.

Seniors take cooking

"Cooking for One or Two" has many senior citizens learning to cook for the first time, and others trying out new recipes.

Sara Dillon, senior citizens recreation director, began teaching the course after finding that many senior citizens who live alone are not eating well.

Subjects have ranged from basic nutrition to methods of cooking meats and vegetables. The students eat what they prepare in class.

The course, which will end on Aug. 12, has been held in the high school home economics department.

Joan Riley is bride-elect of Mr. Greenwich

Know Your Onions

Onion may hold the distinction of being the only vegetable capable of making anyone cry at any time despite their mood. But there are a few other onion "personality traits" grandma may have never revealed.

For instance, did you know that tin objects can be polished to a bright sparkle by rubbing with a raw onion? Or that brass ornaments will glow when polished with a soft cloth dipped in the juice of a boiled onion?

Whether or not you try these tips, there are some important onion facts you should know: Pungency of flavor is not entirely related to variety; growing locations and soils make the difference. Dry storage is desirable since humidity encourages root growth and decay. Don't store onions near potatoes. The onions will absorb moisture from the potatoes. Nutrition facts: One raw onion 2 1/2" in diameter provides 50 calories, and acts as a good detergent food for dental health. One cup of cooked onions equals approximately one-fourth of the daily recommended allowance of Vitamin C.

Three young Boston area performers—Michele Sahm, flutist, Stuart Dunkel, oboist, and Robert Sikrota, pianist—will present works by Johann Rosenmuller, Paul Hindemith, Stuart Dunkel, Francis Poulenc and Georg Philipp Telemann.

Michele Sahm, flutist, with a master of music degree from Boston University, studied flute with Harold Bennett, Jean-Pierre Rampal, Doriot Dwyer, Julius Baker and Samuel Baron.

She is a scholarship student in the Tanglewood Festival Orchestra and is teaching in the Boston area.

Stuart Dunkel, oboist, has a bachelor of music degree from Boston University and has studied oboe with Ralph Gomberg, Harold Gomberg, Robert Bloom and Harry Shulman.

A scholarship student in the Tanglewood festival orchestra for two summers, he is principle oboe for the Boston Opera Company and is free-lancing and teaching around Boston.

Robert Sikrota, pianist, holds an undergraduate degree from Oberlin Conservatory and a master of arts degree in composition from Harvard.

In 1971 he was awarded a travel grant from the Thomas J. Watson Foundation to study and give piano recitals in Europe.

Seniors will visit trolley museum

Senior citizens will be traveling to Kennebunkport, Maine, on Aug. 13, to visit the Seashore Trolley Museum.

There, they will see the history of the trolley car, from the horse car to the modern streamliner.

In just a third of a century the Seashore Trolley Museum has grown from the preservation of one trolley car to an institution containing the world's most comprehensive collection of street and electric railway vehicles.

While in Kennebunkport, they will have lunch at the Old Grist Mill.

The trip, planned by Sara Dillon of the Recreation Department, still has some spaces available.

If Price and Location Are Your Prime Concerns

Consider Our $37,500 Townhouse in Winchester

When it comes to purchasing a home, most people put price and location first. That's why we think that our 2-BR townhouses in Winchester, at prices ranging from $37,500 to $41,000, are the best condominium buys in the state. The train station is a short walk (travel time to North Station: 12 minutes), the supermarket is just around the corner, and 15 tennis courts are up the street. The units have two floors of well-designed living space plus a basement that can be made into at least two rooms... owners are using them as dark rooms, rec rooms, offices and workshops... you name it. Parking is included and we can arrange excellent financing terms. To top it all off, the condominiums are located on the shore of Wedge Pond, where you can swim, boat and watch the ducks and geese that regularly stop here on their migratory routes. The model is open from noon to 7 p.m. seven days a week or by appointment. Call 729-3389 for information.

Dr. Joseph O'Donnell:

Brushing teeth can be traumatic for children

A simple, everyday procedure like brushing teeth may become a traumatic incident for a mentally retarded or physically handicapped child.

In order to alleviate the problem the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center, Waltham, instituted a free dental program for these children in July 1972.

Director of the program, Dr. Joseph O'Donnell, a Winchester pediatric dentist, listed the types of care maintained in the three-chair clinic: complete oral diagnosis, restoration of decayed teeth, treatment of fractured teeth, oral surgery, root canal treatment, minor brace work, replacing missing teeth with partial dentures, dental procedures under a general anesthetic and routine preventive care and treatment of gums.

Providing care for five state institutions including the Belchertown, Monson, Dever, Wrentham and Fernald State Hospitals, Dr. O'Donnell noted the center has 1,500 active patients.

According to O'Donnell, an assistant clinical professor at Tufts University, the program is directly affiliated with the Tufts School of Medicine.

All the dentists at the center are Tufts appointed, he adds.

The dental program at the Shriver Center has two components: the community resident program and the state-wide institutionalized program.

Under the former, any Massachusetts resident who is mentally retarded, physically handicapped or who has a learning disorder, and is under 21 years of age, is eligible for free dental care.

The second component of the dental care program allows institutionalized children and young adults to be used to the center.

According to O'Donnell, before the center existed, many retarded children were unable to receive care due to "physical and behavioral problems" which presented problems to the private practitioner.

He added although the Shriver Center "doesn't take care of everyone — plenty of retarded children still see private practitioners," because of a federal grant there is no pressure to get patients in and out rapidly.

Olympics deadline is today

The second annual junior olympics sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Department will begin at 10 a.m. on Aug. 8 at the Henry T. Knowlton Field, next to Manchester Field.

Only Winchester children from 8 to 15 years of age are eligible to participate. Each child may register for as many as three events in his or her age group. Certificates will also be given to everyone who participates.

Events to be featured will be hurdles, dashes, high jumps, distance races, horseshoes, running broad jumps, shot puts, potato sack races, softball throws for distance and archery.

According to Robert Tufts, playgrounds and waterfront director, certain events will be limited to particular age groups depending on appropriateness.

Tufts notes that no event will be limited to boys or girls.

Boys and girls will participate separately. No more than three events may be entered by each registrant.

Official entry blanks may be obtained at playgrounds from directors or the Winchester Sports Shop. They must be returned to playground directors or the Winchester Sports Shop no later than 3 p.m. today.

Schedules and times for each event will be given with entry blanks. No late entries will be accepted.

Recreation play-offs begin with Leonards at the top

With playoff action beginning this week the recreation playground championship is up for grabs, with Leonards as the pre-playoff favorite.

TWINS POUND LEONARD 10-1

The McDonald Twins proved to Leonard Field they are a team to reckon with come playoff time as they pounded Leonard 10-1.

Steve Marshall was the hero of the day for the Twins as he pitched a one-hitter and struck out 11 batters. Steve also contributed two hits and a couple of RBIs to help his own cause. Guy Cafarella was the human vacuum at second base as he gobbled up everything in sight.

Other key players for the Twins were Paul Marshall (2 hits), Frank Vozzella (4 RBIs), Dan Fiorilli (1 hit).

With the playoffs coming, the Twins are at a peak and planning to take the championship and bring it back to McDonald Field, the home of champions.

WESTSIDE WINS TWO IN A ROW

The Westside nine came to life with impressive wins over Ginn and McDonald last week. The squad tightened up defensively yielding only seven runs in the two contests while offensively they exploded for an amazing 24 runs.

On Monday, the Westsiders blasted Ginn 13-2. Bob Coppins pitched a fine two hit game, while the entire offense showed superiority scoring and posing major threats in every inning. Standouts at the plate included Scott Swanson with a bases loaded double, Bill Rodgers had a triple, and Jack McGinty went 3 for 5.

Tuesday, Westside outbattled a fine McDonald team 1-5. The club started slowly trailing 2-1 after three innings. However, the pitching of Tom Murray held the Twins until the big lumber went to work scoring six times in the fourth and five more in the fifth to put the game away. Rodgers, Coppins, and Pat Fortin had three hits each, while Swanson, Murray, and McGinty chipped in with two hits each.

The Leonard Field Blue Machine had a 2-1 record in last week's competition.

In a twinbill on Monday the Leonard's squad split with McDonald Field. McDonald took the opener by the score of 10-1 but, Leonard's bounced back and took the nightcap 7-4.

On Wednesday, the Leonard team beat Ginn Field 9-7 in a close contest. After last week's action the Leonard team has a record of 10-2 and a first place finish.

Steve Marshall was the big man against Leonard's in their victory. Marshall hurled and batted the Twins to their win. Marshall captured his first victory of the season over Leonard's after three losses.

Teammates assisting in the win were Frank Vozzella, Ed Pratt, Bobby Fiore and Peter Marshall. All these players had timely hits.

Lennie Bellino and Sammy Bellino were the stars in Leonard's nightcap triumph over McDonald. Lennie Bellino pitched a fine four-hitter and contributed two hits. Sam Bellino was the catcher for brother Lennie. Sammy chipped in with three hits and four runs batted in.

Others with hits for Leonard's were Gary Tedesco, Don Layton, Willie Strazzullo and Mike Cavaratta.

A long list of stars helped Leonard's defeat Ginn Field 9-7 on Wednesday.

Jim Campbell was the starting pitcher. Campbell hurled five strong innings before giving way to hot temperature. Also, he had a pair of base hits.

Sam Bellino relieved Campbell and chalked up his first victory of the season. Bellino put Leonard's ahead in the top of the seventh with a towering blast to left-center for a homerun.

Others making key plays or adding offense punch were D. O'Neil, Gary Tedesco, Willie Strazzullo, Ron "Snow Shoes" Divencio and Mike Cavaratta.

With the playoffs starting this week, Leonard's will not have an opportunity to rest on their laurels. West Side Field has organized a team and looks good. They have been practicing all week. McDonald Field and Ginn Field knocked off Leonard's during the regular season and are capable of going all the way.

The playoffs should provide some interesting baseball. No team will walk away with the title.

Standings

Leonards	10-2
McDonald	7-5
Ginn	5-7
Westside	2-9

Baseball playoffs, junior olympics are highlights

Town playgrounds are entering their 7th week of activities this week. Among this week's highlights will be the baseball play-off action and the junior olympics.

Last week's highlights were capped off by the town trips to Canobie Lake, the Museum of Science, and Fenway Park.

At Ginn Field last week 22 children entered a watermelon eating contest run by instructors Tony Guarente and Chris O'Connor. Four children were awarded first place honors, they were: Robert Tolentino, Ed Chichilnisky, Suzanne Cote and Kerrie Reynolds.

Also highlighting last week's activities at Ginn was a basketball foulshooting contest with both senior and junior division competition.

Winners in the senior division were Mark Laundry and Biff Colella.

Junior division winners were Ed Chichilnisky and Adrian Smith. Trophies were awarded to the winners.

At Leonard's Field last week instructors Pam Giarrizzo and Fred Caimon staged a Mexican Festival. One of the activities was the breaking of two homemade pinades. John Mangano broke the first one and Ricky O'Haren and Chris Julian shared the breaking of the second.

Scott and Steve McAdams walked away with honors for collecting the most candy. Pam brought to the field a game of Stratego, since then the children have been challenging her. Pam's played a large portion of the children and managed to lose every match, plus owing ice cream ones.

On July 24, the children at Leonard's started their "Leonards beautification program," the first task is to get the baseball backstop and benches scraped and painted, hopefully red, white, and blue.

Relay Races

At Leonard on Monday the children found different ways to compete against each other. They ran relay races in teams, races against each other, and since the trash barrels were empty, they tried to see who could roll the barrel forward the farthest.

Also, Kathy Mangano made up a game where a kicker stands on the pitcher's mound is pitched a kickball and then proceeds to see how far he or she can kick it over to the backboard. The backboard was two points, the fence above the backboard was five points and over the whole thing was 10 points.

Each child was given 10 chances to kick the ball.

Robert DiVincenzo came in first with a total of 33 points, Michael O'Brien was second with a total of 31 points, Linda Liang was third with 27 points.

Other children who played included Scotti MacAdams, John Mangano, Kathy Mangano and Kerry Keating.

All day Tuesday was spent on making signs to bring to the Red Sox game on Wednesday. Jasper Asaro and Scotti MacAdams used their artistic abilities to make a sign on one of the two sheets donated by Mrs. MacAdams. Their sign said "GO RED SOX WINCHESTER."

Kelly Keating worked by herself doing a nice job on a sign saying: "WIN RED SOX. LEONARD FIELD WINCHESTER."

This week McDonald Field instructors Vicki Hanes and Jerry Ferro will hold the first "McDonald Field Day," featuring races of all types, tug-of-war, croquet, horseshoes, watermelon and pie eating contests and then a playground cook-out.

Tony Guarente clocks 9.62 in 100-yard dash

Tony Guarente, 34 Church St., a student at Boston College, was clocked in 9.62 seconds for the 100-yard dash in a meet held last week at Orono, Me. The Maine classic held at the University of Maine attracted the cream of collegiate track performers in the country.

A search of available records reveals Guarente's time is the best ever turned in by any Winchester resident and one of the best in New England track history.

In winning the race Tony was forced to the limit to finish in front of Daly of Tufts University, Lyons of the University of Hawaii and Struthers from the University of Texas at El Paso.

At the conclusion of the meet, Guarente was awarded a trophy for his effort.

A little bit of history....

This 17 room expansive structure built in the Old English Country style, overlooks the Mystic Lakes and the broad breadth of the Mystic Valley to Boston and the Sea. All three floors lower above Squaw Sachem's land. A country setting, sufficiently isolated for privacy, yet minutes away from the Town Center. The spirit of the Elders who started the Myopia Hunt Club here in Winchester and Governor Samuel McCall who built this magnificent home in the early 1900s still lingers throughout this Hill area. The house itself has a unique old world quality - all the rooms are more than large and the fireplace living room and dining room could have belonged to the country seat of an English Earl. No stereotyping here, but only charm and distinction in a rare environment.

Offered at $135,000.

For two weeks

Selectmen put off final action on Beano games in Winchester

Final approval of rules and regulations for Beano games in Winchester, a topic on the selectmen's agenda in recent weeks, has again been deferred for two weeks.

Earlier all of the selectmen except William Chapman approved the bulk of the original draft of Beano rules patterned after those used in Medford.

However there were a few rules which selectman Arthur Dunbar felt needed additional review by the Fire and Police Departments and sub-committee chairman for such matters, William Chapman.

Chapman, absent during the original discussion and earlier partial approval of the rules, said he is concerned about ingress and egress from buildings holding Beano games as well as space between tables and corridors from a safety viewpoint.

Chapman said he would like additional time to meet with the fire and police chiefs to review the state rules.

Beano functions should conform with rules of any public function halls, said selectwoman Barbara Hankins.

Selectmen John J. Sullivan reiterated his former position — to accept the rules as originally drafted and then if the police or fire officials feel revamping is needed due to problems then have them make recommendations to modify the rules.

There was discussion on whether it might be a good idea to review rules and regulations for all public functions. While Chapman felt this a good idea, Sullivan called it a "horrendous task."

Selectman chairman Lawrence Smith said "we can't wait for a comprehensive job." Smith didn't want to delay the process any further. Dunbar continued with his earlier feeling. He was not "prepared to vote tonight."

In conclusion the selectmen will review the situation and place the matter on the agenda again Aug. 25.

Three years not enough for the planning board

Town counsel Douglas A. Randall has informed town clerk Elsie M. Nelson that the Winchester home rule charter prescribing three-year terms for members of the Planning Board is invalid and that the statutory five-year terms specified in General Law c. 41, s. 81A shall be followed.

The Winchester charter adopted at the annual election on March 3 provided that "There shall be a Planning Board consisting of five members elected for three-year terms, so arranged that as nearly an equal number of terms as possible shall expire each year."

According to Randall, in the recent Supreme Judicial Court decision of Del Duca v. Methuen, decided June 4, it was ruled that the Town of Methuen "had no power to prescribe three-year terms of office for members of the Planning Board since the statute prescribes five-year terms."

Lodging house hearings

Selectmen deny one, defer another license

Following two public hearings Monday night, the Board of Selectmen deferred action on granting a permit to operate a lodging house at one Winchester location and rejected a permit for another.

Applications for licenses were requested by Matteo Gallo of Reading, owner of a lodging house at 219 Washington st., and Kenneth Wright of 11A Lakeview rd. for lodging and rooms at 270 Washington st.

Selectmen deferred decision on the Gallo property until the building has been inspected by the Board of Health, Building Commissioner and inspector of wires.

According to zoning administrator Norman Sherman, the town's old zoning law did not restrict the operation of lodging houses.

Rules and regulations recommended by Sherman and adopted by selectmen Monday night describe a lodging house as a house or dwelling unit where lodgings are let to four or more persons not within the second degree of kindred to the legal owner of the premises.

The rules say no new lodging house operations are permitted within any district of the town. Only those legal, non-conforming use, operations conducted prior to, and continually since, June 28, 1974, have standing to be licensed.

No such operation shall be conducted without a proper license from the Winchester Board of Selectmen. And all such operations must be duly licensed by Jan. 1, 1976 in order to continue.

Sherman estimates there are about four more such lodging houses in Winchester which he knows about.

Because Gallo's property has been a lodging house for at least 20 years, Sherman said Gallo is eligible for a license as long as the building meets requirements in accordance with building codes and other town and state laws. Of course, he will need a license to operate from selectmen.

While Gallo's property "appears to be a valid non-conforming use with a house apparently designed for a lodging house," said Sherman, the Wright property "should be returned to a single family unit."

The Wright property currently has four persons in four individual rooms and five people living in three apartments.

This information was provided by Mrs. Cheryl Clare, daughter of Wright who was unable to attend the hearing due to other commitments.

Sherman explained that under the old law this property is in a zoning area allowing single and double residences. Because there is a third apartment, the owner is operating illegally. "Two dwelling units only are permitted," he said.

Sherman also noted there are illegal kitchen units in the building, the structure is not suitable for a lodging house and there is not adequate parking for tenants.

While there was discussion of problems at the site including disrepair, complaints of neighbors to the police and Board of Health concerning noise, garbage laying around and odors from a dead animal which the Board of Health buried on the premises, selectmen denied the license to Wright and his daughter on the grounds the use of the building goes against both the old and new zoning laws.

They suggested to Mrs. Clare and her husband who was present that they convert the property to a two-family dwelling. This can be done legally without a license. They cautioned the young couple that no more than four unrelated persons can occupy each unit.

Selectman William Chapman commended the Clares for their attempts in recent months to make the building and its surroundings cleaner and in repair and said the board members would be available at any future time to advise them.

Sherman said he will meet with the Clares and help them set up a plan to convert the building and put it in legal use within a 30 to 45 day period.

Board of Health director Michael Saraco and Sherman told selectmen that in their

Crew asks board to rescind Metco

Clara Hewis of 91 Swanton st., acting as spokesperson for Citizens for Responsible Education in Winchester (Crew), the organization which has visibly and verbally opposed Winchester's involvement in the Metco program, held a press conference Tuesday afternoon.

The purpose of her statement was to bring the press and public up to date on Winchester and Metco. She said the press conference idea came Saturday night at a Crew meeting.

Those who attended the press address on the steps of Town Hall numbered about 12.

Pharo responds

The following is a statement from Richard Pharo, chairman of the School Committee:

At the School Committee meeting July 28 a motion was passed for the superintendent of schools to establish a date beyond which without certain critical information from the state he felt the department could not implement the Metco Program because of the unavailability of funds to hire the necessary personnel.

As a result of this action, as chairman of the School committee, I wrote to the Ways and Means Committee and Education Committee of the state legislature with copies to the State Dept. of Education to advise them of this action and to offer public testimony on this matter if they desired to encourage prompt action on consideration of the education budget and to suggest full funding of the Metco portion of the budget to aid Winchester and other towns preparing to begin Metco.

The chairman of the School Committee is required to carry on much correspondence as a result of School Committee actions and this was done in the context.

Those who asked questions and challenged Ms. Hewis were Sally Kincaid of the Finance Committee and Patricia Wells, a town meeting member.

Mrs. Kincaid likened the funding of the Metco program to Chapter 766. She said the difference here is that parents of special children can take the town to court if the education is not provided.

With her printed statement, Ms. Hewis included letters addressed by School Committee Chairman Richard L. Pharo and Vice-Chairman Catherine R. Fallon to 65 persons including members of the House Ways and Means Committee, the Joint Committee on Education, the governor and others asking if they might present testimony on behalf of Metco funding in general and on behalf of Winchester's "unique situation in particular."

Ms. Hewis also drew attention to a letter from Mrs. Fallon dated July 29 to Mrs. Jean McGuire of Metco inquiring if Metco loaned money to communities joining the Metco program.

Copies of the letters were Xerox sheets showing Winchester Public Schools letterheads, letter content, but lacking written signatures.

Ms. Hewis charged the two School Committee members, "using facilities and employees of the School Department," sent these letters without the authorization of other School Committee members.

"It is our understanding that knowledge of this action and copies of the said letters was deliberately withheld from certain School Committee members," said Ms. Hewis.

Indicating the letters were received by the various legislators as coming from the School Committee, Ms. Hewis also included in her packet copies of responses to the committee man and woman as members of the Winchester School Committee.

The Pharo-Fallon letter to legislators noted this year's background on the Metco

Traffic jams: matter of concern to residents and town officials

Town officials and Winchester residents near the Arlington line on Cambridge street are disturbed about traffic these days as Boston Edison Company installs a 345 KV transmission line.

According to selectwoman Barbara Hankins, there are problems in the area as Edison workers have the street dug up and manholes exposed.

During the past week, she said, she has seen one-way travel in some places and no-way travel in others.

She said there are several side streets in Arlington for detours, but she cannot envision a detour through Myopia road in Winchester.

Non-residents can become completely lost trying to get through Cambridge street, she said.

Selectmen asked Edward Donnelly, executive secretary, to contact officials at Boston Edison as well as someone at the Mass. Department of Public Works. The latter granted license to Edison to complete the work.

If this doesn't alleviate problems right away, selectmen asked Donnelly to have a Boston Edison representative meet with them next Monday.

Of particular concern is the upcoming opening of schools and travel of school buses.

More test borings funds endorsed

A figure not to exceed $3,500 may be earmarked from reserve funds to pay for additional borings at a site for a proposed transfer station at the present town incinerator.

Albert H. Mooradian and Vartkes Karaian of the Solid Waste Disposal Committee met with selectmen Monday to give a progress report on the proposed transfer station for the town.

Mooradian reported that C. E. Maguire Inc., soils and foundation engineering consultants employed by the town with town meeting approval to prepare a subsurface exploration program adequate to provide subsurface data within the project limits, feels three more test borings are necessary to provide adequate information to make a proper decision.

Previous boring samples were done for the town free of charge, said Mooradian. While the tests were done by Maguire, they feel the three additional test borings will determine if the town planners are on the right course.

These borings are needed to be sure the building will be on firm foundation, said Mooradian.

They will be taken near the tire loading area between borings taken earlier.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar asked the Solid Waste committeemen if they have been keeping in contact with the Permanent Building Committee, the group responsible for final decisions and approval of monies to be spent. "If additional funds are needed they should be requested through PBC," said Dunbar.

The committeemen said they were in contact with PBC and Ronald Milauskas of that group attended the last Solid Waste

Bill Sullivan, postal worker, holds a weather instrument called a "radiosonde" recovered in back of Rangeley ridge after it fell to Winchester earth via parachute. (Photo: Pauline Dishmon)

Postal people surprised by falling missile

There was excitement at the Winchester Post Office Friday afternoon as two employees saw an orange-colored parachute floating toward earth.

Expecting the object beneath the parachute might be government material, Frank Corby and Bill Sullivan dashed to the scene of expected landing.

Caught in a tree near the railroad tracks in back of Rangeley ridge they recovered a weather instrument, called a "radiosonde," described as an implement for measuring temperatures, pressure, humidity and winds at various heights above the ground.

The radiosonde, according to markings, operates as a radio transmitter tracking to heights of above 17 miles.

Instructions called for the instrument to be mailed to an address in Joliet, Ill.

Before doing so, the men called The Star to report their find.

Board won't post two street jobs

In a 4-1 vote (Lawrence Smith voting against the motion) selectmen decided to reject posting of two jobs as requested by Robert G. O'Brien, superintendent of streets.

The jobs O'Brien wanted to post called for one W-10 skilled laborer—equipment operator and one W-12 motor equipment repairman.

The request for the W-10 "is not a vacancy as such in that I reduced an employee in the Highway Department for disciplinary reasons," said O'Brien. This created a vacancy in the allowable number of W-10 positions but has overloaded the allowable positions in the W-9 classification, he said.

Continuing, O'Brien said: "It is my intent to post this W-10 position and fill a said vacancy with one of the present men now classified at the W-9 rating. This is basically a swapping of personnel to new classification and not filling a vacancy," he said.

O'Brien said the motor equipment repairman is a new position, approved at the annual town meeting.

He said it is important that he fill this vacancy as soon as possible in order that the man may become as familiar as possible with the equipment. He noted the fall would be an opportune time to prepare for winter and there are no personnel at the incinerator, in his opinion, who could qualify for this position.

Selectmen John J. Sullivan said he didn't feel the jobs should be posted. He said, "We need to tighten the organization and the more positions we can keep open, the better." This will give the new DPW director more free range especially with the prospect of closing the incinerator, he suggested.

All but Smith agreed with Sullivan.

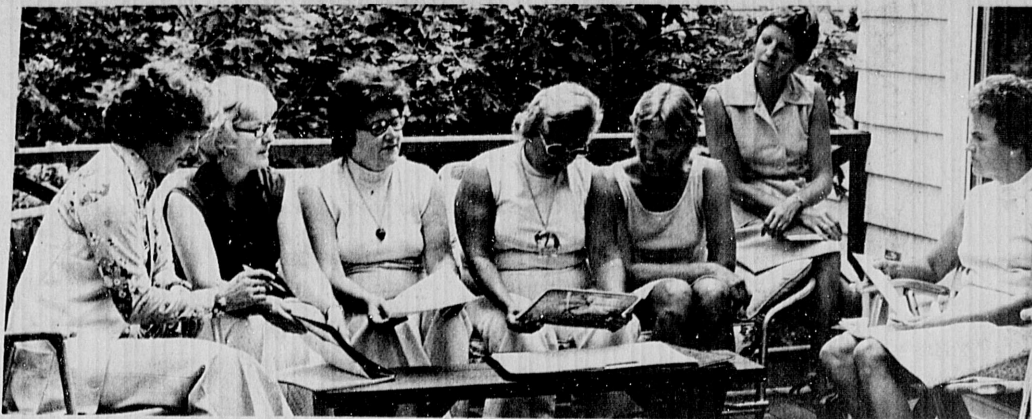

Selectmen recently issued a memorandum to all boards and departments concerned with the TEA contract regarding job posting.

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital will hold their annual ball on Oct. 18 at 9 p.m. at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center.

Rubbish permits are available to public

Permits and stickers issued by the Board of Health for use of hauling rubbish to the town incinerator are now available at the Town Hall office.

The permits are for 1975-76 with an expiration to be phased out on Aug. 31 next year.

Those who use the incinerator must have a new yellow permit and auto vent window sticker by Sept. 1 of this year.

Board of Health director Michael D. Saraco says about 3,500 permits were issued for the 1974-75 twelve month period.

Applicants may obtain new stickers and permits daily, Monday through Friday. Present permits expire Aug. 31.

Boston Gas offers property

Boston Gas recently offered to the Town of Winchester property located near the USA ice rink off Cross street.

The Planning Board is now considering the value of the property to the town.

Planning Board chairman Michael Boodakian suggested to selectmen the property "could be a key access to much of the industrial land in the center of town."

However, they want additional time to study the question and requested 30 days to allow consultants time for evaluation.

Conservation Commission chairman Nolan Jones advises selectmen that his group is only interested in the land if it abuts the Aberjona River.

The town engineer's maps indicate the river to be wholly within the undeveloped adjacent land belonging to James and Helen Cullen. Their land was recently considered for purchase by Stop and Shop for a supermarket complex.

★ Jobs

It reads:

"Recent contract negotiations with the Town Employees' Association resulted in the town receiving a management clause imposing a job freeze until the positions eliminated at the incinerator are absorbed within other departments."

"In addition, this provides the town with the opportunity to evaluate manning requirements within the new Dept. of Public Works."

"In this regard, all boards are requested not to post vacancies which occur until further notice."

"Please advise this board when such vacancies occur and your board's needs for immediate filling. The Board of Selectmen will notify the Union president when such action is taken."

"The intent is for the Board of Selectmen to cause the jobs to be posted when and if considered appropriate. Your cooperation in this matter would be most appreciated."

Selectmen will request $250 for data processing and $250 for the Board of Registrars be earmarked in setting up new districts in accordance with the new town charter.

Puppet show set for today

On August 14 at 2:30 p.m., the Winchester Junior Library is presenting a performance by the Poobley Greedy Puppet Theater. The show, developed for the Massachusetts Bicentennial Commission, is entitled "Hard Knox" and tells the true story of Henry Knox who brought 59 pieces of artillery from Fort Ticonderoga to Dorchester Heights in 1776.

The play has been thoroughly researched so that the hair styles, fabrics, colors, clothes and accessories are authentic for the time. Included in the show are three kinds of puppets: glove, rod and string. Besides telling the important role Massachusetts played during the Revolution, a demonstration after the performance gives an introduction to the art of puppetry.

Children entering first grade through those going into junior high school are welcome, but since space is limited admission will be on a first-come basis.

Berrying in the rain

A diarist takes a trip
for summer adventure

The following are diary notes describing activity over a few days in the life of Frances VerPlanck of 37 Calumet rd. As a member of the Winchester Historical Society, Mrs. VerPlanck finds herself involved in various community programs.

Wed. Aug. 6

A.M. J.L. called to remind me about the last day of summer school for the Six Week Adventure kindergarten at Ambrose — a Friday Winchester Trails trip into Smith Pond. No Winchester Trails walks since early spring. It could be that vines have since obscured the paths. Best to check.

P.M. J.L. couldn't be more right. Absolute impasse of blackberry vines. Unbelievable! Thick thorny stalks bar our passage. Cascades of black glistening berries on each stalk — untouched! Wonderful...but...J.L. and I agree to come again tomorrow with clippers to clear the path by 8 a.m.

Thurs. Aug. 7

A.M. Steady rain! J.L. calls to say weather prediction for tomorrow is clear skies. If path is to be cleared in time we'll have to go today rain or no rain. We don't want to disappoint all those children!

At 8 a.m. I arrive in rain gear with our short and long-handled clippers, also kitchen pots to hold the blackberries since I expect five extra for supper tonight. My main regret, we have no machete — everywhere an unbelievable tangle!

Nothing like this since even before the Winchester Conservation Commission land acquisition in 1966.

It takes the two of us 2½ hours of steady clipping to clear from Johnson rd. to the pond.

We are both weary and J.L. leaves. I take out my pots and in the still steady rain collect two to three quarts, hardly veering off the soggy paths. I try to recollect when I have ever before been berrying in the rain and I decide this is the first time.

Rain gear is a complete fiasco as I am wet to the skin. Far better to have bought oil skins in the first place! That polka dot plastic rain hat is a farce!

Supper — Berries sheer delight — served with soured cream.

Fri. Aug. 8

A.M. Rains! J.L. calls to say Smith Pond trip is cancelled and that she'll notify other faithful Winchester Trails Volunteers. I swallow hard for the 20 children and the Lesley School student teachers. A student teacher calls to see whether perhaps I could arrange something for them?

I decide to don my Colonial costume I made for Town Day and open the Winchester Archival Center at the Sanborn House. I will feature Indian artifacts and the wonderful pudding pot forged in the 1730's in John Symmes mill and forge on the banks of the Aberjona River near the Old Middlesex Canal Aqueduct. I also tell how the bog iron was extracted from Winchester's own bogs. I can surely weave a good tale around Indians and the pudding pot.

Only room for 15 at best. They can sit on the floor. I'll move the tables so they can see the old tools.

A.M. 9:30 It's good. Two teachers plod over from the Ambrose School with 15 small children dressed in oilskins. (how sensible).

I think I succeed in binding under the spell of Indians and the pudding-pot. They ask good questions — a good sign. I am rewarded by wide eyes and open mouthed wonder.

A.M. 10:15 Another group — much smaller — only eight but with three teachers. I'm glad. The first two teachers must have liked it. Second group equally happy. Too bad about Smith Pond outing, but so good to have these little ones start right now to enjoy our wonderful Archival Center.

Parkway closing studied by board

At the request of Woburn city officials, Winchester's Board of Selectmen are studying the feasibility of closing Horn Pond parkway at Pond street.

Chief of Police Edward F. Bowler told selectmen if the parkway was closed precautions should be taken to permit police access inasmuch as it might become a place for groups to congregate. He said he did not recommend a barrier at Pond street but would prefer one farther back, about 400 feet.

If substantial in nature and carefully located, said the chief, a barrier "should help control access by automobile to the Horn Pond area and should also be a safety factor by reducing the number of vehicles passing through the dangerous intersection of Pond street."

New Lodging House rules are adopted by selectmen

On the recommendation of zoning administrator Norman Sherman, the Winchester Board of Selectmen adopted the following rules and regulations concerning lodging houses in Winchester:

LODGING HOUSES
These regulations concerning lodging-rooming houses are promulgated pursuant to the provisions of MGLA Chp. 140, Section 22, et seq.

"Lodging House," as used in these regulations, shall mean a house dwelling unit where lodgings are let to four or more persons not within the second degree of kindred to the legal owner of the premises.

No new lodging house operations are permitted within any district of the Town of Winchester. Only those legal, non-conforming use, operations conducted prior to, and continuously since, June 28, 1974 have standing to be licensed. No such operation shall be conducted without a proper license from the Winchester Board of Selectmen. All such operations must be duly licensed by Jan. 1, 1976 to continue this use.

Every license for a lodging house shall specify the street and number of the building where the business is to be carried on and describe with particularity the physical characteristics of the premises. The license shall be for the specified premises only.

Such licenses shall expire on Dec. 31 of each year; but they may be granted during December, to take effect on January first following.

The fee for each annual license shall be $20 and this fee shall accompany each application.

As provided by MGLA Chp. 140, Section 24, whoever conducts a lodging house without a license shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both.

Premises occupied, used or controlled by a licensee under these regulations shall be subject to the inspection by the licensing authorities and their authorized agents, and by the police on request from the licensing authorities. All licenses granted are conditioned upon this inspectional consent.

Every person operating a lodging house shall keep, or cause to be kept, in permanent form, a register in which shall be recorded the true name and permanent residence of every person occupying the premises, for any period of the day or night, in any part of the premises controlled by the licensee, together with a true and accurate record of the room assigned to such person and of the day when such room is assigned. The entry of the names of the person(s) occupying a room(s) shall be made by said person(s) occupying said room.

Until the entry of such name and the record of the room has been made, such person shall not be allowed to occupy any room upon the licensed premises. Such register shall be retained by the holder of the license for a period of at least one year after the date of the last entry therein, and shall be open to the inspection of the licensing authorities, their agents and the police. Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both (MGLA Chp. 140, Section 27).

Each licensed premise shall have a responsible, resident manager. Such manager shall have full responsibility for maintaining the premises in compliance with all applicable rules and regulations; i.e. Zoning Administration, Building Department, Board of Health, Fire and Police Departments. Such manager shall be designated by the owner of the premises as an authorized agent to receive service of any notice or order.

Each licensee shall clearly state the maximum number of individuals who may occupy the premises at any one time. Violation of this provision shall subject the licensee holder to immediate license revocation-suspension.

A license issued under these regulations shall be revoked if at any time the Board of Selectmen of Winchester are satisfied the licensee is unfit to hold the license. They may suspend and make inoperative, for such period of time as they may deem proper, the licenses mentioned herein for any cause deemed satisfactory to them. The revocation and suspension shall not be made until after investigation and a hearing, or after giving the licensee an opportunity to be heard; notice of the hearing shall be left at the premises of the licensee not less than three days before the time thereof.

Application for renewal of each license must be filed with the selectmen's office by November 30, of each year.

program, how 60 percent of the town meeting approved having Metco and yet 60 percent of the townspeople on referendum disapproved it.

The letter said the town comptroller "refuses to allow the School Committee to use any money out of its own budget to get the Metco program started. Each day that passes without assurance of 100 percent funding for Winchester makes it more and more difficult for the Committee to continue to support this program which it has worked so hard to implement in the face of considerable local opposition."

It pointed out the need to hire a Metco coordinator and teachers and aides.

It said: "Unless we are able to have immediate assurance of full funding being forthcoming from the state, our hands are tied as we cannot proceed to staff the program and still keep our commitment to the town."

It said: "We need this assurance now or we must rethink our decision to bring the program to Winchester in September."

Sen. George Rogers of the Bristol and Plymouth District responded: "Any action taken by your town anticipating any additional money from the Legislature for any program would, in my view, be risky." He urged Pharo and Fallon to "proceed cautiously."

Senate majority whip Mary L. Fonseca of the Second Bristol District said: "The Commonwealth is facing very serious problems this year and I have made a commitment in my district not to support any increase in any tax program."

Sen. Walter J. Boverini, chairman of the committee on education, said since the House Ways and Means Committee and Education Committee hearing was scheduled for Aug. 6, he felt "it would be most difficult for me to make any arrangements for the Town of Winchester to present any facts before the Committee on Ways and Means." He noted the Dept. of Education is "a strong supporter of the Metco program."

Ms. Hewis said: "This totally unorthodox procedure is being reviewed by Crew and its counsel for possible violations of law, both state and federal."

At the July 28 School Committee meeting, on a motion by member Mary Pronski, if the state Department of Education and Metco does not deliver information regarding funding by a date selected by Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald, the School Committee will meet on that date to consider its previous vote and withdraw its pending contract for implementation, the committee voted 3-1. Ms. Hewis said the date set by MacDonald was Aug. 18.

Mrs. Fallon was the dissenting voter. Stephen Parkhurst and Robert Frank were absent.

Ms. Hewis said: "Crew again calls on the School Committee to recognize that our American system is based on government with the consent of the governed."

She said 62 percent of the people voted against the Metco program and that is the will of the town. "We call upon the School Committee to recognize that will and withdraw its invitation and contract for the Metco program."

The Star tried to contact School Committee members after the press conference but was unable to reach any.

committee meeting at which a representative of C. E. Maguire was present.

Selectman William Chapman said he considered the request for $3,500 to be "reasonable." He said: "The first borings were to get an overall sample of the entire plot; the second to get the general configuration of the station."

In conclusion the selectmen approved a motion that the Board of Selectmen endorse PBC's request of the Finance Committee to earmark $3,500 from the reserve fund for the additional borings.

Mooradian and Karaian will take the request and endorsement to PBC via telephone in the hopes of expediting matters.

Next April, according to the Solid Waste committee, appears to be the date the transfer station will be completed.

"A lot depends on the weather," said Mooradian. "Once the slabs are poured the rest can go up with no sweat."

Karaian said he received a request from an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) attorney recently asking for a time schedule. Karaian said he promised to send one to EPA shortly.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar suggested "EPA can take a long walk off Commonwealth Pier."

Barones attend

Dr. and Mrs. William D. Barone of 1 School St. were recently among guests at the wedding of Edwina Helene Brooke, daughter of US Senator Edward W. Brooke, to Monsieur Michel Petit of Saint Martin Island, West Indies. The ceremony was at the La Batterie Saint Martin with the reception at Mullet Bay.

Istanbul is the only city which lies in two continents, Europe and Asia, and it lies between the Black Sea and the Sea of Marmara. ### Naturally Perfect ... Brown Rice

Brown rice is whole-grain rice from which only the hull and a small amount of the bran has been removed. Nutty in flavor and chewy of texture, it needs more water and longer cooking time than white rice. Brown rice is easy to cook—you can boil, steam, oven-cook, or fry it. 1 cup of raw-brown rice gives you 3 cups of cooked rice.

To keep most of the B-vitamins in the cooked rice, don't rinse it before or after cooking. Follow package directions carefully and use just enough water.

Don't stir rice after it comes to a boil; this mashes the rice and makes it gummy. Add a tablespoon of oil to cooking water before adding rice to keep the grains of rice separate.

To test the doneness of rice, use the back of a spoon and press cooked rice kernels against the side of pan. When kernels are soft throughout the rice is ready.

Swim meet sign-up deadline is today at 4:30

Today at 4:30 p.m. is the deadline to register as a participant in the 28th annual swim meet to be held Saturday at Leonard Beach.

The event is jointly sponsored by the Recreation Department, Park Department, Winchester Red Cross and Winchester EnKa Society.

Recreation program heads for windup

The town playground season will draw to a close this Saturday with the final event of the summer, the 28th annual town swim meet.

Some 500 town youngsters are expected to board buses Friday for the annual playground outing to Lincoln Park, N. Dartmouth, where they will be treated to unlimited rides all day for a low fee.

Among other highlights this last week, will be the boy's baseball championships. This year any one of the town's four playgrounds could win the town championship.

Also on this week's agenda, will be an all-star game featuring four all-star representatives from each playground combining to face an all-star team representing the Woburn playgrounds.

This week will also bring to a close the arts and crafts program and the swimming instruction programs, all of which have involved over 500 town youngsters weekly for 8 weeks.

The town swim team will also bring its season to a close this Wednesday with a meet vs the Burlington Country Club at Burlington.

Applications for registration must be completed and returned to Cathy Cook or at the Recreation Department in the Town Hall. No post entries will be accepted.

Participants will be limited to take part in two events in their own age group and one other event in the 16 and under category. Swimmers will qualify for finals according to time rather than position in heats.

There will be awards for the first, second and third place winners in all final events. Awards will be presented at a banquet to be announced later.

Rainy days send gymnasts indoors

It was a long time coming, almost the whole summer, but the playgrounds finally had not one, but two rainy days.

Although the rain caused the rescheduling of baseball playoff games, all other recreation programs and more were carried out indoors at the Winchester High School Gymnasium.

On hand to direct the recreational activities were playground and tennis instructors, youth corp. workers and town lifeguards.

Among the activities offered were: gymnastics, including beam, vaulting, free exercise and uneven parallel bars, high jumping, basketball, paddleball, football, "elimination," parachute activities and low-organizational games.

The gym will be open 9:30-12:30, 1:30-3:30 in case of rain throughout the playground season, which ends August 15.

Contestants who scratch for an event, once registered, will be disqualified from the entire meet.

The right to reject an entry for any reason is reserved by the Recreation Department. For an event to be scheduled, there must be at least two contestants entered.

Applicants' age age the day of the swim meet will govern eligibility for the respective age groups of the meet.

Information needed on the official entry blank includes, name, address, date of birth, age as of Aug. 16, and the three events the participant wishes to enroll in.

Applications may be obtained at the Recreation Department at the Town Hall or at the Winchester Sports Shop.

Softball finals set at Ginn Field

Phil's Cigo and Parkview Barber Bellino's Pizza are meeting in finals tonight for the honor of Winchester's best softball team.

These are the teams which met earlier in the game of the year.

Phil's Cigo won that game 10-3 before an audience of over 600 persons at Ginn Field.

PBBP's record is 22-1 counting playoffs and Phil's Cigo is 19-4.

Tonight's game begins at 7:30. The place is Ginn Field.

The Leonards lead town's fast-paced playoff series

Town playoff action was fast and furious this week in the town recreation baseball league. Leonard and McDonald Fields took one game leads in their series which now stands at 2-1. The semi-final series are three out of five, with the finals being two out of three due to the all-star game with Woburn and the town trip Lincoln Park. Finals will begin Tuesday at Leonard's. A consolation series will be played by the semi-final losers at Westside field.

TWINS EDGE "A's" 11-10 IN 13 INNINGS

Timely hitting by Steve Marshall and key base running by Paul Marshall gave the Twins a 11-10 win. This evened up McDonald's play-off series with Ginn Field at one game apiece. Paul Marshall started on the mound for the Twins but needed relief help from brother Steve who came on and got credit for the win. Key hits were delivered by Guy Cafarella, Steve Marshall, Frank Vozzella, and Dave Vozzella. The defensive gem of the game was turned in by Frank Vozzella when late in the game he made an incredible diving stab of a line drive, saving at least two runs and dampening the "A's" hope of a rally.

GINN ROLLS OVER McDONALD, 5-3

With four-hit pitching by Chris Landry, and some sparkling defense by his teammates, the Ginn Field "A's" held on to defeat the McDonald Twins by a score of 5-3.

The "A's" scored their runs in the first inning with some timely hitting and daring base running, allowing them to take a 5-0 lead. From the first inning on, the "A's" rode on Landry's no-hit pitching for four and one-third innings. During this time, Landry was aided by some glaring defensive plays by Dave Bracken, Bif Collella, and Phil Mulvaney. Collella's catch, being a diving one-hander, saved two Twin runs.

The offense was provided by Landry (2 hits, 2 RBI's), Pete Costello (4 hits, 3 runs scored), and Mark Landry and Randy Pearl both checking in with key hits.

GINN STUNS TWINS 9-3

McDonald Field — After a shaky first inning in which the Twins scored all their runs, Rick Pearl settled down to lead the Ginn "A's" to an opening game 9-3 victory. Pearl helped himself at the plate too with a four for four afternoon including two triples, a double, and a line-drive single driving in six of the "A's" nine runs.

With the score 3-3 and two outs, Pearl lifted a high fly to right field that dropped for a three-run triple and on the throw home Pearl came in to score.

Peter Mascioli, a defensive replacement, made the play of the game with two outs and two on for McDonald in the fifth. A high pop up to the right field side appeared to be dropping in when Pete reached out with the glove and snared it to kill the rally.

Frank Vozzella was the hitting star for the Twins with a two-run triple in the first. Chris Landry got on every time up for Ginn as the "A's" took a 1-0 lead in the best of three series.

Pete Costello, on base 3 times, stole four big bases and Randy Pearl blocked the plate in the second to save a run.

Leonard Field and West Side Field opened their playoff series last week with some surprising results. Offense was the key weapon for both teams as Leonards took a 2-1 game advantage in their best of five series. West Side won the opener 15-12 but, Leonards rebounded and took the next two games by the scores of 22-17 and 10-8.

In the series opener, Leonards jumped to an early 7-0 lead in the first inning. However, West Side came back with five runs in the top of the second. The game was a seesaw battle till the last out with West Side prevailing 15-12.

Those players leading the offensive charge for West Side were Rogers-3 hits, McGinty-2 hits, Murray-2 homeruns, and Grenier chipped in a singleton.

Hitting the ball hard for Leonards were Gary Tedesco and Mike Cavarratta with three hits apiece, Sam Bellino-2 hits and Lennie Bellino a hit.

The second game was highlighted by a heavy hitting and sloppy defense by both teams. Both teams scored at will during this contest. The starting pitchers were Sam Bellino for Leonard's and Costello for West Side. Lennie Bellino, in relief of brother Sam, nailed down the victory with his Jim Willoughby routine. The final score read 22-17 in favor of Leonard's.

Leading the attack for Leonards with two hits apiece were Mike Cavarratta, Willie Strazzullo, Sam Bellino and Lennie Bellino. Adding single hits were Gary Tedesco and Ron Divencenzo.

Swim team competes

The North Suburban Viking nine and 10 freestyle relay team was recently involved in competitive swimming as they shattered the New England AAU 200 meter mark by more than five seconds at the Sunrise A meet at Springfield College.

The Viking team, under the coaching of Jay and Debbie Mogavero, is engaged in double session workouts.

Better than 90 percent of the team achieved a level times as set by the national AAU office.

Fall tryouts will be in early September.

The regular type charge account is billed once a month and is payable in full within the following ten days. There is no charge for this. The trend among department stores today is to allow thirty days in which to pay bills. Any amount not paid within that time goes into a revolving account for which a service charge is made.

Buying is governed by the credit level established for you at the start. Thus, the danger that you will take on too heavy a repayment schedule is restricted. The family and the store are cooperating to budget expenditures.

Merchants finish Intercity season

By Jim Stewart

With their 6-2 loss to the champion Augustines Club, last Friday evening at Manchester Field, the Winchester Merchants concluded their second season in the intercity baseball league.

Exhibiting some new talent from last year, the team got off on a sour note when their first game was rained out on May 27. Then they had to take on the 1974 champion Hosmer club the next evening.

A 13-0 drubbing would have discouraged a lesser ball club, but the Merchants' players dug in for an expected "long" season.

For the next eight games, they could not pull out a victory, losing five more and tying 3, but the scores weren't that bad. The ties were 3-3, 6-6, and 2-2, while the losses were 4-1, 5-2, 5-3, 8-2 and 2-1. The team was really trying, but unable to get the extra hit or two with men on bases to pull any out of the fire.

Their beat Medford 5-3 on June 20, but lost the next 4, 0-4, 6-5, 2-1 and 9-5. Again they hitched up their belts and won four out of the next five games, losing only to Belmont, 5-4, while beating Medford 9-5, Arlex, 6-3, Waltham 8-4 and 5-0. The doordrums came back, unfortunately, but not as consistently.

After a 7-1 loss to Arlex, they squeezed by Medford 1-0 in the best game of the year, lost to Hosmer 8-1, then bounced back by 15-4 against Belmont.

Wakefield beat them 5-2, followed by a 6-0 whitewashing at the hands of Hosmer.

A 6-2 win over Somerville heartened their spirits on July 22, but Arlex (5-2), Hosmer (2-1) and Augustines (1-0) went on the books before they bounced back to trim Somerville 6-5 in their only night game of the season.

A frustrating tie with Wakefield, 3-3, and the aforementioned Augustines loss consumed their season showing nine wins, 19 losses and four ties for eighth place.

In 32 games, the Merchants scored 109 runs against their opponents 143. Discounting the first game (13-0) debacle, the team came close to evening up their run production with that of their opponents.

All season, it seemed, there were too many occasions when just a single at the right time would have turned ties into wins and losses into ties or wins.

Fielding miscues hurt, too, as the Winchester fielders committed costly errors of commission as well as damaging lapses of concentration, called errors of omission. With any sort of luck along the way, the Merchants could have been ensconced in fourth place, qualifying them for the playoffs. Injuries to Harry Chanesian and Mike Heffernan cost the Merchants the services of these two excellent ball players for a number of games.

George Greenwich and Ron Sen shouldered the bulk of the Merchants' pitching chores. Both showed remarkable spunk in their losses without complaining about their lack of support. Jim Hough had a couple of rough spots, too, but came through well on several occasions. With a couple of additions to these men, the Winchester pitching would stack up with the best in the league.

Chuck Mountain led the hitters with a .433 average, while other 300 or better hitters were Gary Beard, Albie Cordice and Sandy Milley. Charlie Ciccone is to be complimented, too, for his yeoman work behind the plate. He did all the catching after Mike Heffernan was injured early in the season.

It would be a disservice not to mention the players who came out consistently and gave it their best for the entire two month season. They tried hard and did not get discouraged when the going was tough, and that was most of the season. Compliments and thanks to Phil Allen, Gary Beard, Charlie Ciccone, Albie Cordice, Bavel Cummings, Ed Fitzgerald, George Greenwich, Mike Heffernan, Jim Hough, Tom Joyce, Mike Lynch, Sandy Milley, Chuck Mountain, Harry Chanesian and Ron Sen.

Important contributions were also made by Bob Carroll, Tom Ferris, Bill Harrington, Frank LeBlanc and Dana Peterson.

The season's resume would not be complete without praising manager Mike Gilbert and his consistent attention to details as the one who was most important in reorganizing the team from last year, acting as manager, coach and general manager, and even playing in two games when the lack of sufficient numbers showed up.

And, to the sponsors, without whose financial assistance the season would not have been possible for the Winchester Merchants to function on the field, plaudits should go for their active support of the team. Thanks, to Arlene's Fashions, Bellion's Pizza, the EnKa Exchange, Fitzgerald Fuel Co., the K of C, Lane's Funeral Home, McCormack's Pharmacy, Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm, Martignetti's, Med-Tech Co., Saltmarsh Insurance, Sons of Italy, Galuffo's Red Cab, Sunnyside Dairies, Winchester National Bank and Winchester Savings Bank.

Rotary Club has new softball team

The Winchester Rotary Club has organized a softball team and will participate in the newly-formed Rotary softball league.

According to Winchester Rotarian Jack Kean, the local club joined the league "in an effort to rekindle the flame of athletic competitiveness which is now barely a flicker." Kean said: "Some have referred to this as an endeavor even Walter Mitty couldn't conceive in his wildest dreams. However undaunted by short wind, aching muscles and various other geriatric maladies, the team has survived some rigorous training with no major casualties," said Kean.

The league is comprised of eight teams representing Rotary clubs. Each team will play seven games during a seven-week period culminating with a championship game to be held in mid-October during the fall Rotary conclave at Wentworth-by-the-Sea. Two top teams will vie for a trophy.

During the past two weeks, the Winchester Rotary Club team gained a split in pre-season play.

The first was a squeaker against the Medford Rotary in which the Winchester club edged the visitors by a score of 20-19.

The second contest ended in defeat for the home team. C&K Components, a non-league opponent, bested Winchester Rotarians with the final score 10-6 in a strongly fought contest.

Winchester leftfielder Craig Wark arranged the second game.

Winchester opens its season tonight at Leonard Field against the Somerville Rotary Club. Starting time is 6:30 p.m.

Junior marathon for 9 — 11 year-old girls with Kelly Keating as winner and Lauri Glynn second.

Pop Warner football tryouts set tomorrow

Winchester Pop Warner football is set to begin tryouts for the A, B and C teams.

All boys who have registered for the upcoming season are requested to report to Ginn Field at 6 p.m. tomorrow evening (Aug. 15).

Boys should wear gym shorts, sneakers and tee shirts.

Boys who have not registered up to now may do so by reporting to Ginn Field tomorrow at the same time.

Last season the A and B teams participated in a post season bowl game with Kedron, Pennsylvania, at home.

Miss O'Halloran wins cup races

Natalie O'Halloran of Mayflower rd., member of the West Dennis Yacht Club sailing in the Mitey Mite Division, has recently won two cup races.

After winning the special July 4 Murphy Cup, she went on to capture the Doggett Cup in a race from Hyannis to West Dennis, in record time.

She will be entering eighth grade at Lynch Junior High School this fall.

Indoor olympics attracts 100 of town's youngsters

Last week's rain didn't dampen the spirit of almost 100 town youngsters as the second annual recreation olympics moved indoors to the new high school gymnasium. Although sunshine might have brought out more participants, the field was still large and all four age groupings were well represented. The three age groups were 8-9, 10-11, 12-13 and because of the presence of some 7-year-olds, a special age grouping was allowed for them. On hand to conduct the events were all playground supervisors, arts & crafts supervisors and youth corp workers and because of the rain, additional assistance was given by town lieaguards and tennis instructors.

Several events, horseshoes, archery, softball throw and running broad jump could not be held indoors, but were replaced by other indoor events.

Every participant received a certificate of participation suitable for framing. First, Second, 9 Third place winners also received stars on the certificates; gold for first place, silver for second and red for third.

A&P to open new Billerica store

Barbara Sullivan, national director of consumer affairs for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Inc. will introduce consumers to the new Billerica A&P, Billerica Mall on Route 3A, Billerica, on its opening day, Monday, August 18, at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Sullivan represents the voice of the consumer at A&P. During her visit to the Billerica store, she will talk personally with many shoppers. "By maintaining daily communication with our customers," says Mrs. Sullivan, "we can know better what they need from the supermarket in terms of both service and merchandise. And then we do our best to see that these needs are met."

The new 30,000 square-foot A&P will feature a lobster tank from which customers can select live lobsters daily, a full produce department with exotic and tropical items as well as a full line of house plants, a complete cheese department stocked with imported and domestic cheese, and a full service delicatessen.

A grand opening promotion is planned for the new store, according to J.F. Thibault, A&P director of grocery merchandising for the Boston area. Among the many prizes to be awarded to customers during the Billerica store's opening week are food baskets and a grand prize mink stole. The first 500 customers at the Billerica A&P each day of opening week will receive free gifts.

If Price and Location Are Your Prime Concerns

Consider Our $37,500 Townhouse in Winchester

When it comes to purchasing a home, most people put price and location first. That's why we think that our 2-BR townhouses in Winchester, at prices ranging from $37,500 to $41,000, are the best condominium buys in the state. The train station is a short walk (travel time to North Station: 12 minutes), the supermarket is just around the corner, and 15 tennis courts are up the street. The units have two floors of well-designed living space plus a basement that can be made into at least two rooms... owners are using them as dark rooms, rec rooms, offices and workshops... you name it. Parking is included and we can arrange excellent financing terms. To top it all off, the condominiums are located on the shore of Wedge Pond, where you can swim, boat and watch the ducks and geese that regularly stop here on their migratory routes. The model is open from noon to 7 p.m. seven days a week or by appointment. Call 729-3389 for information. Located at 60 N Lake Street, a quarter mile from the center of Winchester.

Council names 12 to board

The Mystic Valley Council for Children at the First Congregational Church, Dix Street, recently named 12 Winchester persons to the board of directors.

Among 50 newly appointed members to serve one year are Gary Argue, Richard Beaton, Irene Cioni, Helen Corbett, Walter and Mary Henderson. Also, Rose Holahan, George MacMillan, Donna Mullaney, Evelyn Orman, Ann Seavey and Ruth Westwater.

MacMillan and Mrs. Holahan were appointed vice-chairperson and corresponding secretary respectively.

Their responsibilities include seeing the board meet mandates of the state office for children which oversees Winchester, Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Wilmington and Woburn.

The council assesses the needs of children and allocates state funds for services. Some of the activities the council will be involved with this fall are the monitoring and evaluation of children's programs, overseeing the implementation of the special education law, Chapter 766, and developing and funding an adolescent emergency foster referral program.

For more information contact Bob Good, community representative, at the First Congregational Church.

Chamberlain art show at library

A group of oil painting by Marilyn Chamberlain is presently being displayed at the Winchester Public Library. The artist's primary interest has been to explore color, as is evidenced by the rich, vibrant tones she uses in her landscapes.

Ms. Chamberlain received her BFA and her MFA from Boston University and also studied with Robert Fleux, a noted painter and conservator in West Barnstable. She has exhibited at the Falmouth Artists Guild, the South Shore Arts Center, and just recently at the Winchester Hospital. She has also contributed to the Winchester Art Association's picture-lending program.

Ms. Chamberlain teaches arts and crafts part-time at the Hamilton-Wenham Regional High School on the North Shore. Her paintings remain on display during August.

Wicker furniture 'in' thing for thieves in town

The Star received a telephone call from a Madison avenue resident Tuesday reporting a set of wicker furniture stolen from her front porch.

She said she talked with friends and neighbors and discovered wicker furniture appears to be a prime target of thieves these days.

The odd part of the incident, said the caller "is that it happened while we were sitting in the house."

The police journal indicated a white wicker sofa was stolen from a front porch on Sunday at 387 Main st. Also two lawn chairs were stolen from 24 Glenwood ave. at 4:15 p.m.

Breaks were reported Monday morning at 2 Kirk st. and 6 Wendell st. In both instances sheds were broken into. Nothing was reported missing at the Kirk street shed while a tool valued at $175 was taken from the Wendell street shed.

On Sunday morning a set of golf clubs was stolen from a garage at 8 Girard rd. and on Friday a Pilgrim drive resident reported golf clubs and shoes were stolen from his car while parked in the yard.

Also on Sunday the house at 11 Taft drive was illegally entered. The house was ransacked and a stereo system, television sets, jewelry and a box containing important papers were among the missing articles.

Last Saturday there was general ransacking reported at 130 Woodside rd. Also, police were called to the old salvage yard on Swanton street where a red Cadillac convertible was found afire. The car was registered to a Littleton resident who reported it stolen in Framingham earlier the same day.

A man's bicycle was stolen from 24 Lorena rd. at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Jay Schwerin, 5, was struck by a vehicle operated by Philip Mindis of Medford on Saturday at 3:30 p.m. Police report the boy's father said it was not the driver's fault as his son ran across Bacon street from LaGrange to Stratford road between a line of traffic.

He suffered injuries to his head, face and legs.

39 in summer work

Youths gain insight, learning

By PAULINE DISHMON

This summer 39 Winchester youths have been earning money, gaining learning experiences, meeting new people and finding direction for future careers.

They have been achieving these goals through the federally funded summer youth work program which is concluding its 1975 this week.

According to Gene Prior, coordinator of the program, Winchester youths have been in the program during the school year and summers since the end of the 1973-74 school term.

There have been two in-school programs, meaning working experiences during the school year, and two summer programs.

This summer, participants in the program have been working, for the most part, in some form of town government. In one instance, Jody Stoffregen of 18 Crescent rd., has been assisting as receptionist and typist in the Winchester Red Cross office.

To get a feel of what the youths have been doing, The Star, accompanied by Prior, visited several on the job.

We first visited Sharon McNulty of 312 Cross st., who has been busy in the Board of Health office. Sharon was in the in-school program while classes were in session and at that time entered the Board of Health office.

She applied for the summer program and because of her cooperative attitude and already gained skills, she was able to remain at the office during the summer, said Prior.

Her duties were to assist in every way possible such as to answer the telephone, issue dump stickers and to become as familiar with all of the workings of the department.

Sharon said the trust the Board of Health office personnel had in her was the most rewarding of the entire experience. The most interesting part of her job was completing burial permits. When she first began her job she said she was scared, but now she has gained self-confidence in her own abilities. "This has given me a feeling of accomplishment," she said.

Nancy MacMillan of 10 Farrow st., acting as a clerical assistant in the data processing office, has learned the card reader and printer this summer. In the in-service program, in the same department, Nancy was already familiar with the key punch machines and running the computer.

An opportunity to earn money and meeting new people are the rewards of her experience, said Nancy. She has plans to be a doctor.

Cindy Miller of 8 Harvard st., as an assistant in the office of the selectmen, feels she has become more responsible. She said she can move faster now and she has improved her typing skills. "No more poking for me," she said.

She hopes to enter a career of interior decorating some day.

In the office of the Water-Sewer Board, Doreen Pratt of 312 Cross st. has also learned self-confidence. The work of the office and meeting new people, she said, are her gains.

Doreen likes office work and plans make use of her experience when she goes into the veterinarian field in the future.

Mrs. Janet Manzie, supervisor, said she has been keeping Doreen busy answering telephones, filing, recording meter reading cards and sending out notices to residents whose bills have been estimated recently.

Mrs. Manzie considers the program to be of benefit to both the students and the departments who employ them.

Steve O'Connor of 34 White st. and Paul Batalis of 35 Washington st. are two who have been working around the Town Hall taking

For community development

Public hearing slated by selectmen on U.S. grants

The Board of Selectmen will hold public hearings at 8:15 p.m. next Monday and Sept. 2 in the selectmen's meeting room, Town Hall, on an application being submitted to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for a community development block grant of $225,000, broken down as follows:

...$25,000 for curb cuts at intersections for the use of persons traveling in wheel chairs and the elderly;

...$80,000 for improvements to Lockeland park, including tennis courts, basketball court, fencing, grading, loaming, seeding and drainage;

...$100,000 for a Cambridge street sewer outfall;

For Firefighters

State denies test request

A request by Winchester selectmen to the State Division of Personnel Administration, to have an educational qualification and a swim test as part of the pre-selection process for firefighters in Winchester has been denied.

The denial came from Robert S. Macdowall, assistant to the administrator for planning and research of the executive office for administration and finance of the Division of Personnel Administration for the state.

According to Macdowall, the request does not meet the validation study requirement established with plaintiffs under which the examination for firefighters is being held. The standards for such validation have been established by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said Macdowall. They involve, primarily, proving that the proposed requirement is both job related and essential, he said.

The courts look to those standards when hearing cases concerning such matters, said Macdowall.

The request by selectmen for the educational qualification and swim test was prompted by a recommendation from Fire Chief I. Francis Amico.

While cable's laid...

Give street a wide berth

Contractors for Boston Edison yesterday began construction of an underground 345 KV transmission line which will be laid under route 3A (Cambridge street) in Winchester from the Arlington line to Woburn.

Northern District Manager William Jones suggests that motorists take alternative routes including Arlington road and High street.

Jones said the project, which will take about 10 weeks, has a target date for completion by Halloween.

The work crews will excavate between 200-250 feet per day.

The length of route 3A in Winchester is expected to take about seven weeks, said Jones.

Crews will then lay the cable to a Boston

Edison station near Horn Pond in Woburn where it will run overhead to Ayer.

The underground line links Boston Edison's new oil-fired Mystic 7 power station in Everett to the New England Power Station.

From Everett, cable was installed underground to North Cambridge through Arlington to route 3A.

Jones said the road is expected to be opened to one-way traffic only to cars headed for Arlington.

Paid details of Winchester police officers will direct traffic during the project, concluded Jones.

Jones and others working on the project met with Winchester selectmen Monday evening following complaints of residents about traffic and digging on Cambridge street.

Pending state funding

Metco Program is delayed by board

In brief . . .

Action taken by the School Committee on Monday is summarized as follows:

...Acceptance of a report from Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald that Metco cannot begin in Winchester on Sept. 3 due to lack of assurance of state funding as of Aug. 18. MacDonald needs three weeks to prepare for implementation.

...The School Committee took action not to rescind the Metco program as of Aug. 18.

...As soon as the committee hears from Commissioner of Education Gregory Anrig on funding or lack of it, they will meet 48 hours later to consider their next action.

...MacDonald was charged to communicate with the Dept. of Education on Aug. 18 action of the School Committee.

Kiwanis circus treat for kids

The European-type circus brought to Manchester Field by the Winchester Kiwanis Club August 6 became an instant success with the proceeds going to Kiwanis Charities in the town.

About 2,000 attended the two performances under "The Big Top" despite heavy rains. The highlight of the circus was the forming of "Peanut Galleries" around the circus ring which allowed the children to come as close to the performers as possible.

Child and adult alike were treated to the performances of aerial, magic, clown, horse, dogs, elephant and other acts. Many senior citizens attended as guests of local merchants.

The Kiwanis Club is especially grateful to the many town officials without whose cooperation and understanding the Kiwanians would not have been able to bring a circus to Winchester.

In other Kiwanis activities, the club awarded its annual scholarship to Dorothy McKenna, 33 Allen rd., who plans to attend the University of Massachusetts at Amherst this fall. Miss McKenna has done modeling work and appears in the August issue of Seventeen Magazine.

Captain McElhinney

Selectmen appoint new fire department chief

Winchester selectmen named Capt. Robert W. McElhinney of the Winchester Fire Department to be the town's new fire chief.

He will succeed I. Francis Amico who is retiring the end of this month.

McElhinney will take office Sept. 1. According to selectmen chairman Lawrence Smith, there were seven other candidates. All were interviewed. He noted the board discussed the excellent credentials and presentations made by all the candidates.

"Although the decision was extremely difficult, the board selected Capt. McElhinney by unanimous vote," said Smith. Before telling McElhinney the news, said Smith, selectmen informed finalists in the selection process that they had not been chosen for the position.

Afterwards, Smith went to the fire station to tell McElhinney of their decision. The news was also given to other Fire Department personnel on duty that day.

McElhinney has been a member of the Winchester Fire Department since 1958. He was promoted to captain in 1971.

At present he is president of the Firefighters Union.

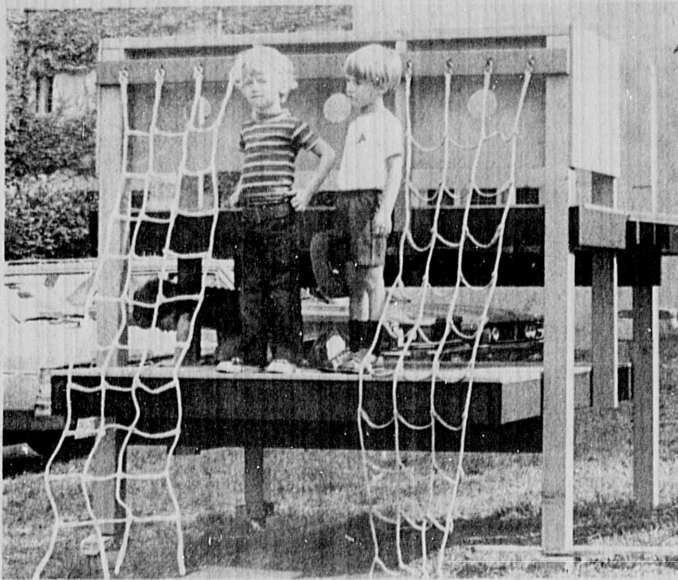

He is a native of Winchester. McElhinney and his wife, Barbara, and their six children, live at 23 Pine Grove pk.

Among those also considered for the post of fire chief were Thomas W. Conlon Jr., John J. Farrell Jr., Lt. Joseph M. Connolly, Lt. Norman J. Delorey, Lt. Charles R. McNutt, Lt. William J. O'Leary, Lt. Bernard F. Styles, Lt. Robert Swyrner, Capt. Michael M. Connolly, Capt. David N. Dalton and Capt. Peter L. Galuffo.

Parents build school furniture

The Winchester Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School has a new piece of play equipment ready for the start of school in September which was designed and constructed by parents of pupils in the school.

The equipment took two days to build, stain and paint with seven families cooperating.

The equipment was designed by Alan Schoenegge who was assisted in construction by his wife Jo. Other assistants were Jon and Cindy Stableford, Josh and Ruth Ann Lombard, Dick and Liz Sayre, Bob and Eileen Foley, Alan MacDonald and Bob Drummond. The school will open Sept. 15.

There are openings left for four-year old girls in the four-day afternoon program. For further information, contact Jane MacDonald or Vicki Wiedwald.

Children's Theatre will come back to Winchester this fall

The Winchester Community Theatre Inc., Children's Theatre will be back this fall with the co-sponsorship of the Winchester Recreation Department.

On Aug. 4 when the Recreation Department held its regular meeting, the group discussed money appropriated by the town for co-sponsorship of the children's theatre. A total of $1,197 was voted to be used for two dramatic performances.

A sum of $500 was allotted for directors with the rest to be used for electricians, paints, hardware, costumes and scenery.

According to the Recreation Committee meeting minutes: Since the town is to be the co-sponsor, the committee felt there is no need of a tuition charge. The only charge will be an admission charge for the production.

The committee was of the opinion that profit from production can be used for gifts of equipment to Winchester schools.

The minutes note $120 has been subsidized for electricians and possibly $500 for custodians.

Printing related to the Children's Theatre productions are expected to be done through the Northeast Regional Vocational School. Robert Winn of the Recreation Committee noted he was happy to see the money set aside for a project of this sort since "everybody is not of an athletic nature" and this is a good opportunity for those who like to get involved in drama.

In discussion with Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, founder of the Children's Theatre, and Mrs. Nancy Warnock, the committee agreed they have no objection that the money be used for one production at any time rather than two.

Mrs. Samoiloff and Mrs. Warnock said the major problem in getting a production underway is having someone to organize the entire project. Then there is the job of choosing committees to handle various functions such as costumes, scenery and lighting.

Donald Spinney, recreation director, suggested some of the money allocated for the director be used for the organizer.

He requested all bills for paint, hardware and lumber be given to the Recreation Department for payment. He said he wanted to keep a proper record of all transactions and monies spent.

According to Mrs. Samoiloff, staff and registration dates will be announced shortly.

MDC to weed out Upper Mystic Lake

The treatment will be done to kill weeds that are interfering with boating and swimming. The chemicals to be used have the approval of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. All areas will be posted with signs stating that the water bodies are not to be used for recreational purposes for three (3) days or until Thursday, August 21, 1975 at which time the water will again be suitable for recreational pursuits.

Elks treat kids to happy cookout

The Winchester Lodge of Elks held their eleventh annual cook-out for 70 resident-patients of the Wrentham State School, Wrentham. Twenty-three exceptional children with their parents from the Winchester area were also in attendance.

This year's cook-out was similar to previous years and featured plenty of hot-dogs, hamburg, tonic, ice cream, cowboy hats for all plus pony rides and Polaroid take-home pictures for everyone.

As usual, the participating Elks and their friends assisting the committee received more joy from their endeavors than perhaps the patients themselves. They found a particular sense of reward in helping the children.

The Elks particularly want to thank the following young people from Winchester: Nancy, Peggy, George and Larry McHugh, Nancy Collins, Susan Fitzgerald, Maria Pilato, Lisa Ciampa, Rosemary Penta, Jane Duffy, Evie Twombly, Patty Thomas, Paula Kimball, Mary Campbell, Ann Dizio, Michelle Mandeville, Janis McDonough, Pamela and Tricia Holoran, Paul Tenny, Steven Capriolo and Peter Hollahan.

The feature of the entire day was the "rock group" made up with Peter Emery (last year's co-football captain, Winchester High School), Ronnie Vangell, Sam Oliver and John Ardick. All of these Winchester youths have played at the Wrentham State School cook-outs and Christmas parties many times. All of these young people donated their time and services.

Many local merchants donated food and favors among those who annually have participated was Spence Farm of Woburn, Brown's Farm, Mahoney's Rocky Ledge and Ruma's Farm.

'Sandbagged?'

Winchester Town Hall's interior: an old building made to look new, or a new building made to look aged? You might ask yourself that question as you wend your way up the winding, colorfully-carpeted stairway to the chamber where the selectmen hold forth. Their room is richly paneled, wall-to-wall carpeted; bright, clean, inviting. It's a pleasant place to be.

The selectmen, seated in high-back bright orange leather-covered swivel chairs, sip coffee poured from their own urn on a long counter top against a back wall, and at their places are attractive dishes filled with candy to sweeten their night's ordeal.

Their table is a long, thick, wood-grain piece of furniture, shaped like a T. At the cross at the top of the T sits Chairman Lawrence Smith and his aides, including a secretary.

The selectmen are having an unusual meeting on this particular hot August night. They are in joint session with the Winchester School Committee. All are seated around the big table. The chamber is full of spectators, using makeshift seats around the walls, a few sprawling Indian-style on the immaculate carpet. Interested parties (women voters?, Metco representatives?, concerned citizens, some taking notes on clipboarded yellow sheets.) Others are standing, shifting from one foot to the other to relieve the tedium and physical strain.

Selectman John Sullivan, dapper in a neat brown suit, is saying in a tenor voice, "We don't mean to sandbag you. Don't get the wrong idea, but..." He wants to know why the members of the school committee (at least five of them) voted the way they did — why they voted to bring the Metco program to Winchester when 62 percent of the voters said no, they didn't want it in Winchester. There was a "sense of the town" vote and in no way binding on the committee.

The chorus to Sullivan's insistence for an explanation grows. First Selectman William Chapman, referring to the philosophy and the decision of the school committee says it is something they alone have to answer to and "square" with themselves and the public.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar sips coffee, puffs a cigarette, agrees with Chapman and Sullivan. He and Sullivan are usually at odds, but on the Metco vote situation they are as one. Dunbar has been openly against bringing Metco to Winchester. Sullivan made a vague reference to his attitude about it, generally being in favor with some reservations of the program that would bring 45 young black kids — first and second graders to the bright and beautiful suburb of Winchester.

The only mention of the youngsters themselves, and it could be because that had all been hushed over before, was that they shouldn't be left "dangling." This concern was voiced by Mrs. Mary Pronske, who has been the lone dissenter, the only voice on the school committee to vote against the program, and who was adamant in her insistence that the committee should vote to cut off the Metco program entirely by a date certain (August 18, the day of the meeting) because state funding had not been provided and hence in some mysterious way, hurt the children.

Her concern was that a delay would only show "a total disregard of quality education."

Chairman Smith, patient, cautious, diplomatic, handling his meeting with a firm hand, suggested that rather than discuss the School Committee's philosophy, that they meet again at a later date, devote the entire session to a discussion of Metco alone and the school board members' rationale for opening the Winchester door to Boston's black kids. He cut off further discussion of the question and went on to other matters, including safety at the schools.

When the meeting ended, no one could be any closer to knowing if the ghetto kids would be coming up out of the grim, grey, dismal environs of Roxbury, Mattapan, Dorchester to the other-world-Winchester.

But at least you've got to give the School Committee high marks for trying.

There's help at Center

By Frances VerPlanck

We could remind all our friends that we have a professional genealogist as the town's archival director at 15 High st., in the basement of the Sanborn House. For instance Mrs. Theodore Wood of Main street has been greatly helped in the history of her house and of the persons living in it through Ed Galvin's efforts, also Mrs. William Spaulding across the street. If Ed must go outside of the Archival Center to find the information, of course he must charge a fee for his time.

With the assistance of Ed Galvin and of volunteers we have succeeded in accumulating an impressive card file catalogue. The card file will lead you to all sorts of interesting clippings and fascinating photos and materials compiled from time to time by thoughtful citizens of Winchester.

Don't throw it out! Please give old photos, clippings and letters to the Winchester Historical Society at the Archival Center. The hours we are open are: Tuesdays 1-5 p.m. and Wednesday 7-10 p.m.

Letters From Readers

Focus on Metco

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In regard to the current controversy over Metco I would like to make my personal position clear. I oppose the program because I feel strongly that it will not be worth what it will cost; and that, therefore, it will do more harm than good. Large sums of money will become necessary to fund the program: money is tight these days, and I feel that whatever funds there are available should be focused directly upon the education of the children involved and not upon transporting them to distant school systems for sociological benefits that may not exist, or the value of which may be doubtful, at best, if they actually do exist.

However, in spite of my personal opposition to the program, I wish to rise to the defense of the current vice-chairman of the School Committee, who seems to be somewhat "on the spot" these days in regard to certain letters, etc. Whatever happened in that connection, I feel certain that she is fully as sincere in her opinion favoring the program as I may be in opposing it.

Therefore, nothing she may have done so far (or that any other member of the School Committee may have done so far, for that matter) should be construed, in my opinion, as anything other than a sincere expression of the conscience of the individual concerned. In conclusion, let me express the hope that this matter may yet be solved on its merits, pro or con, rather than by casting aspersions on the motives of anyone concerned.

Sock it to 'em

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I think most people's bird-feeders are put away for the summer, but we still have one that is being kept quite busy, even in this hot dog-day weather.

We have a short sleeve of open-mesh nylon, something like mosquito netting, made for us by Mrs. Jenny Monson of Perkins road. It is about ten inches long and about the girth of a man's sock, open at the top and tied into a tight pucker at the bottom.

This I fill up with black "Niger" thistle seeds to about the size of a tennis ball and then hang suspended from a wire stretched across our bedroom window.

All spring and summer long we have had a pair or more of bright yellow gold finches, a single male purple finch, and a number of active little robber type black and white chickadees. These land upside down on the ball of seed at the bottom of the sock, grab a single seed out through the pores of the mesh, and then fly back into the shrubbery to devour their stolen booty. As soon as one has finished, his mate (or another chickadee - I cannot tell them apart) takes his place, and between them they manage to keep the ball swinging like a pendulum most of the day.

The seeds that they sometimes fumble and drop, fall to the ground and are eaten there by ground feeding birds like mourning doves, cardinals, etc.

We had a cardinal's nest in our hemlocks, but I think they abandoned it for some reason before their eggs were laid. Why, I do not know.

We had the usual sparrow's nests in the old bluebird houses, a robin's nest that, too, was abandoned, and a wren family that looked over all four of our wren houses, in and out for several days, then went away for a week, only to come back and rent one of the houses for the summer after all. They finished raising their little brood, and one day when we were away they just packed up their belongings and left us flat, no farewell, no nothing!

I hope they will be back next year. (Oh, I forgot to mention a cat-bird's nest out in the garden).

So that's about all I have had time for, this summer.

Clarence S. Borggaard

Congratulations

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to congratulate the producers of "Dark of the Moon," presented at the Winchester High School recently by the Winchester Summer Community Theatre, for their imaginative production of a dramatic play.

The new young talents of a number of the cast, and of stage crews - especially the use of minimal scenery and colorful lighting - was most gratifying to anyone who loves theatre and hopes for some opportunity to be aligned with theatre in Winchester.

The Recreation Committee has been aligned in sponsoring this group for years - and both are to be commended for the results last week.

Now the Recreation Committee, which has vigorously supported so many sport programs and has presented the lovely Wednesday night musical programs at the Winchester Library duck pond, has voted to co-sponsor the Winchester Community Theatre Inc., Children's Theatre in their third season.

Music and art have developed splendidly in our Winchester schools, and now at last theatrical production and training is being recognized as an important part of education, particularly for young children.

Vocational training test is successful experiment

By Thomas A. Mullen

Thomas A. Mullen, a Wakefield High School graduate last June, has been accepted at the sophomore level at Harvard as a result of advanced placement examinations. He will major in architecture. He has experience in newspaper writing during his senior year at high school and hopes to continue this vocation during his college years.

By: THOMAS A. MULLEN

A special summer program in vocational training got its trial run this year at Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School.

Developed by Superintendent-Director John Connolly, the six-week program had its origin among the members of the District School Committee anxious to put the school's facilities to practical year-round use.

Initially intended for high school graduates only, the classes sparked such interest among undergraduates that the minimum age was lowered to accommodate high school students as well. And, enthusiasm for vocational education, even during the sultry summer months, proved not to be restricted to the young as the 48 enrollees ranged in age from 15 to 44 years.

The fast paced classes lasted six hours a day, with a half hour out for lunch, featuring some theoretical work but the bulk of students' time was centered on vocational education's special brand of "hands-on" practical training.

The fast paced classes lasted six hours a day, with a half hour out for lunch, featuring some theoretical work but the bulk of students' time was centered on vocational education's special brand of "hands-on" practical training.

On the first day of classes in July, Supt. Connolly told the assembled students they were in the forefront of an experiment that could change the whole complexion of American education.

"Those of you who have graduated from high school have a right to be proud of that accomplishment," he said. "Your diploma is proof of diligence and tenacity. But in the modern job market a high school education simply is not enough.

"Employers want hard-working people with practical skills. You have shown how hard you can work; all that remains now is for you to use the next six weeks to develop a skill."

And work they did for six weeks, gleaming from every minute of classroom and shop instruction the most they could as demonstrated by the barage of questions each of the instructors faced at the conclusion of each lesson. Courses were offered in machine shop, automotive technology, auto body repair and electronic accounting.

Supt. Connolly congratulated the students on the maturity of their decision to seek post-high school training. He also exhorted them to use every minute of their education to the fullest, noting that while the average high school vocational student receives 2,160 hours of shop instruction, a summer school student is limited to 180 hours.

At the conclusion of the program in August, Supt. Connolly once again called the students together, this time to explain the school's job placement program. He urged them to take the jobs offered and to refine their newly developed skills. "You have something now," he said, "but you still need the practical experience that only a real job can give you."

Their success in finding and keeping employment will be recorded, the superintendent reminded them, to be used as a basis in deciding the future of the summer program.

"If it turns out that we have prepared you well for the job market," Connolly asserted, "this summer program could become a regular part of our schedule. We have high hopes that this will happen because it seems to us that the kind of opportunity we provide here are in every greater demand. Every year at least four times as many students apply to Northeast as we can accommodate. As the demand for highly skilled workers climbs, more and more people will surely see vocational education as an idea whose time has come."

Winchester students who participated in the program were Stephen Carlson, Frank Gerardi and Walman Ng, taking automotive education, and Paul Salerno and Patricia Thomas, electronic accounting.

The Metco issue

Commissioner Anrig's note

The following is the letter sent to the Winchester School Committee by State Education Commissioner Gregory Anrig, explaining the status of Metco funds as of August 18, the date schools Superintendent William C. MacDonald had set as the cutoff date for implementation of the program:

Dear Dr. Pharo:

I regret to inform you that I cannot yet assure you that an appropriation level sufficient to fund the Winchester Metco proposal will be available for fiscal year 1976. We have, however, set in motion two procedures, either of which would provide an advanced allotment of $6,385,000. This level would allow the Board of Education to assure all cities and towns which have submitted proposals the full amount of their request.

The first procedure is a "critical needs" letter which has been signed by Secretary of Educational Affairs, Paul Parks, and is awaiting signature by Secretary of Administration and Finance, John Buckley. We are hopeful that Secretary Buckley will approve the critical needs request tomorrow; it will then be forwarded to the House and Senate Ways and Means Committees for their approval. I cannot guarantee that all the necessary approvals will be obtained, but it is my judgement that the level of support for the Metco program is high and that there is a very good chance that the critical needs request will be approved.

The second procedure involves the second interim budget which is currently before a conference committee. It appears that this budget will be passed tomorrow or the next day. Included in the Senate version of the budget is a provision that would remove the allotment restrictions set forth elsewhere in the bill from the Metco account, thus making $6,385,000 available immediately. Again, this level would allow the Board of Education to assure Winchester of full funding for the Metco proposal.

In conclusion, I urge the school committee to delay its decision on the Metco program until later this week. I am very hopeful that within a day or two we can assure you of full funding, and would like very much to welcome Winchester to the Metco program.

Gregory R. Anrig
Commissioner of Education

Mrs. Pronski's statement

The following statement was submitted to The Star by Mrs. Mary G. Pronski of the school committee, who has been the lone dissenter in the Metco program, voting by the board. It is reproduced in full:

This morning, Aug. 18, at approximately 9 a.m., I received a hand delivered memo at my home from Mrs. Fallon, dated August 15, stating that she has been in communication with Commissioner Anrig in regard to certain possibilities concerning funds for the Metco program.

It is still my opinion, that there is no commitment of funds for the program in Winchester.

In Mrs. Fallon's memo she makes reference to expected actions which may be taken by the Senate Ways and Means Committee, today, August 18.

Even if these actions are voted in the affirmative, under the law, any such votes are purely advisory to the Massachusetts State Legislature. Actual monies then, in fact, have not yet been appropriated for the METCO program.

In my opinion, the School Committee cannot divorce itself from the feelings of the town, for whatever reason. We have assured our citizens that state funds will be available and that quality education will be maintained.

It is a major concern of mine that if, in fact, the Winchester School Committee chooses to implement the METCO program after the commencement of the school year, that choice will be subject to interpretation as a total disregard for quality education, which I believe should be the primary objective of this committee.

The time is now to settle the issue and let the School Committee get on with the business of educating Winchester children. In my judgement, the prolonged debate has interfered with our productivity.

Mary G. Pronski

Collins birth

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Edward Collins of Woburn are parents of a daughter, Kelly Lynn, born Aug. 9 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George O. Reinbacher of Eau Claire, Wisc., and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Collins of 106 Wendell st.

Mrs. Fallon's statement

The following contains a portion of Catherine Fallon's presentation to selectmen at a joint meeting between them and the School Committee Monday night concerning Metco:

The purpose for including a discussion of Metco in this joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and the School Committee is three fold: to lay to rest some unfounded rumors, to clarify and reaffirm the circumstances under which a Metco program can come to Winchester, and to describe School Committee efforts to determine if and when full funding assurance can be attained.

First, there is a problem regarding the upfront funding of the Metco program. By upfront funding, I mean where does the money come from to pay for the services and salaries of new teachers, aides and a coordinator for the first month or two until the first payment is received from Metco in October.

Some townspeople were spreading a rumor that monies from a special emergency escrow account established in June were going to be used to start up the program. This is untrue. Neither this nor any other town monies have been or will be considered as a source of funds for the Metco program.

Preliminary efforts were made to determine if the money might be loaned from Metco to a private Charitable Trust Fund to meet upfront funding needs. This idea later proved to be filled with legal complexities and has essentially been abandoned.

We have decided that the burden of upfront funding must be borne by the new people themselves. Language has been written into proposed contracts which have been okayed by the town counsel that insures that payment to these individuals will be made contingent upon receipt by the Town of Winchester of funds from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under the provisions of Chapter 76 Section 12 A as amended.

In essence those individuals whom we may hire, following state assurance of full funding will be risking or donating their first months' pay, by accepting delayed payment.

The chairman and vice-chairman of the School Committee wrote letters to a number of governmental representatives to inform them of the urgency of the need to release Metco monies immediately if we were to adhere to a schedule which called for starting the program early in September.

These letters have been criticized as a totally unorthodox procedure, but in reality were absolutely vital and necessary if we were to carry out properly a policy decision made by a majority of the school committee to implement the Metco program this fall.

The letters represented our best effort to persuade the legislature that it must stand by its commitment to fully fund the Metco program and to do so as promptly as possible. Not to have explored all possible means of releasing the funds would have been a dereliction of duty and would have indicated a less than total commitment on the part of the committee to carry out its policies and responsibilities in a proper fashion.

Other inquiries have been made in the past two weeks to determine exactly what the chances are of getting the Metco funds through the legislature. The replies we have received so far vary from cautious pessimism from certain legislators to enthusiastic optimism from Commissioner Anrig of the State Department of Education, and also from the Bureau of Equal Educational Opportunity and the State Board of Education.

Finally, from November of 1974 through March of this year a commitment was made to the town that no Winchester dollars would be spent on the program. The program was presented to the Town on the basis of full state funding. We will abide by that commitment.

The funds have to be allocated by the proper state authorities before we commence or continue the program. Metco won't come to Winchester in September or any other time if the funds are not forthcoming.

We reiterate that this commitment comes before any social or philosophical beliefs or any personal endorsement of the program by individual school committee members. I don't know how we can make it any clearer, but just for the record, once again, our support of Metco is predicated on 100 percent state funding.

We await word from the State Department of Education and the legislature before making a final determination of the future of Metco in Winchester.

Tips On Storing Meat And Poultry

As soon as you get the meat home, take off the store wrapping and rewrap it loosely in wax paper so that air can get to it. Sometimes it's more convenient to put it in an open dish and cover it loosely with waxed paper. Put in refrigerator. If you're freezing the meat, however, it should be wrapped airtight. If possible, take the meat out of the refrigerator before cooking and let it stand until it is at room temperature. About an hour for small cuts, two or even more for large cuts.

Joan Friborg is appointed

Joan E. Friborg of 7 Penn rd. has been appointed by First Church of Christ Scientist, Winchester, to serve as librarian at the Christian Science Reading Room in Winchester Center.

She succeeds Mrs. Pearl Locke of 36 Allen rd.

In the local Christian Science church, all officers are rotated regularly among the membership.

Mrs. Friborg is currently serving as a member of the Board of Directors and Sunday School teacher.

The reading room is maintained largely as a service to the general public.

It provides a comfortably furnished, air-conditioned quiet room for study and inspiration. The King James Bible, Bible reference books and denominational books, and literature in several languages are included.

The front room contains a sales room and a lending library.

In the sales room, the Christian Scientist on duty will lend or sell literature about the religion and answer questions.

In the quiet room, users are expected to experience what Paul described: "Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you."

Many people go to the reading room to do specific spiritual research. This room has been equipped expressly for that purpose.

To the Christian Scientist every problem in his daily life is an opportunity to deepen his spiritual understanding on the particular subject involved.

It is his conviction that as he gains a deeper spiritual sense of things, whether it be of home, relationships, job, health, or whatever phase of his experience is troubling him, the problem will be solved and healing result.

Visitors often remark about the atmosphere of peace and assurance they feel in the Reading Room. A Christian Scientist might refer to it as a "healing atmosphere," and would explain it as a natural result of reverent confidence in God's power to meet every human need.

The reading room is located at 4 Mount Vernon st., and is open daily to the public Monday through Friday 9:30 to 4:30, Saturday 9:30 to Noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Lindberg of 5 New Meadows rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Corr 2nd of Lexington.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza featuring an empire waistline, a scoop neckline and long puff sleeves, Venice lace on the bodice, cuffs and border of the A-line skirt and cathedral train.

A Juliet cap of matching pearl embroidered lace held her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a natural round bouquet of daisies, carnations, roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Jeffrey L. Lindberg of Medford was matron of honor. She wore a peach empire waisted halter gown of cotton battiste featuring a solid bodice and plaid skirt with a jacket to match.

En Ka Exchange opens Sept. 10

The En Ka Exchange, fast becoming a Winchester landmark, opens September 10 for its 17th season to serve the public in Winchester and surrounding towns. The shop is located at 736 Main st. and is open for business Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until 3:45 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. Friday hours are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"Take-in" of clothing is Wednesdays only each week. Clothing must be clean and in season to insure a fast turnover, and a 50 percent return goes to the person submitting the garments. The other half goes to En Ka, so not only do the patrons appreciate a monetary return but enjoy the thought that much of En Ka's share goes back to deserving recipients through the society's continuous donations to many and varied civic projects.

Customers are offered the chance to sell their own clothing and at the same time also have a wide selection from which to purchase as men's, women's and children's garments fill the racks from early September until early June.

Periodic sales during the year offer savings to shoppers, and during the winter months the "ski and skate" department is extremely popular. September 10, 11 and 12 will be the opening week days for accepting of clothes only. Regular selling hours will resume September 17 and thereafter.

Symmes Hospital noted nationally

A brief article in the Boston Globe about Symmes Hospital's employee meat purchase plan caught the eye of National Observer columnist Daniel Henninger who flew up from Washington to find out about the program first hand.

Now in operation nine months, the innovative effort allows hospital employees to purchase meat monthly at wholesale prices. The plan is a cooperative effort of many departments in the hospital and is staffed by volunteers.

The Henninger column detailing the plan was met with great enthusiasm by Symmes' employees, a number of whom were quoted and mentioned by name.

The column appeared with an Arlington date line. In it Henninger noted that there's no escape from "the high cost of meat. That is, unless you are fortunate enough to work for Symmes Hospital here in suburban Boston." Published by Dow Jones, the National Observer has a weekly circulation of 536,549.

MDC personnel will receive complaints at that number, make contacts with proper parties to ascertain what action will be necessary to resolve the matter, and then follow up to see such action is taken. A permanent file is to be kept to record the problems and their solutions.

Swim team visits Maine, season ends

The Winchester Town Swim Team ended their season last Sunday with a trip to Ogunquit Beach in Maine. They left from the town hall early in the morning under cloudy skies, but were greeted by sunshine and warm weather when they reached the ocean.

Accompanying the team were Cathy Cook, Doug Crout, John Henriques, Mary Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Mullen, and Mrs. Webber. The group spent the day swimming, playing dodgeball, frisbee, and ambush, practicing gymnastics on the sand, collecting shells, playing with snails, and enjoying the goodies their mothers had packed them for lunch.

Them has gained racing experience and endurance during the eight-week season. Although they lost their first meets with Lexington's Sun Valley and Adams Estates-Paint Rock and with the Winchester Boat Club, they did finish with a win against the Burlington Country Club August 13.

As they drove home from Maine Sunday evening most of the swimmers were planning to return next summer to Leonards and hoped to improve their season record.

Craig Garrett is at bat with Paul Marshall catching in the all-star baseball game which had boys of Ginn and Leonard Fields playing those from McDonald and West Side last Thursday. Craig represents Ginn while Marshall plays for McDonald.

Phil's Citgo slowpitch softball league champs

By Rudy Fiore

Phil's Citgo, sponsored by Phil Ardagnano and Phil Ardagnano Jr., won the town slowpitch softball championship last week. They defeated Parkview Barber-Bellino's Pizza co-sponsored by Moose Bellino and Joe Forester.

Before the series started, it was assumed by most that it would be an excellent series. PBBP was 19-1 during the regular season. Their only loss was 10-3 to Phil's Citgo. Phil's Citgo was 14-4 during the regular season.

Entering the finals, it was clear that PBBP was out to avenge their only loss of the season. On the other hand, Phil's Citgo was out to prove their superiority. Many observers felt the series would come down to which of the teams played best at the specialty. PBBP was a hard-hitting team and it was not uncommon for them to score over 15 runs a game. Phil's Citgo on the other hand was considered one of the finer defensive teams in the league. They won many of their games with superb pitching and peerless fielding by the entire team.

As it turned out, Phil's Citgo peaked at the right time. They played the best defense of the season, and bat PBBP in three straight. The bats of PBBP were silent throughout the series and when they did put up any assault with their bats, the Citgo Players came through with great defensive plays and snuffed out the rallies. The scores of the games were: 5-1, 15-4, and 11-5.

Phil's Citgo was undefeated in playoff competition. In the last four games they scored a combined total of 32 runs while limiting their opponents to just 10 runs.

One must also remember the other sponsors who put teams on the field and also thanks are in line to the faithful fans who showed up game after game, win or lose to cheer for their favorite team. A special thanks also for John Hennelly who was supervisor of the league, also George Murphy, Bill Allard, and Mike Saraco who umpired most of the games.

Boat Club brings back three prizes

The Winchester Boat Club brought back three trophies from Quincy Bay Race Week. National Tens:

Blue Fleet, (top fleet): fifth place, Fred Hagedon, skipper; Ned Towle, crew.

Ethels 22: second place, Charles Quigley. Other Winchester participants included: David Craig, Edward Mills, Peter Mills, Lisa Thyson, Beth Kingsbury, Loni Levaggi, Beth Towle, Patricia Simboli, Tony Simboli, Paul Williamson and Patrick Harrington.

Winchester Boat Club takes a third place in the National Tens Midget Championships skippered by Charles Hagedon with Paul Williamson as crew. Other entries included Bob McInnis and Patrick Harrington.

Satan Visits Ginn

Police Officer John Guarente and police dog Satan visited Ginn Field recently to tell to children about their duties with the Winchester Police Dept. As he talked with the children, Guarente played catch with the children.

Police dog Satan makes friends with children who regularly participate in activities at Ginn Field.

McDonald Twins clinch the playoffs in two straight

Eastside Stars top Westside 3-2

The town recreation baseball season came to a close last Thursday afternoon, when all-stars representing all four town playgrounds met at McDonald Field. Each team was allowed five representatives then the teams were grouped according to their side of town. Representing the West side of town were all-stars from Westside field and also from town champion McDonald field. Representing the east side of town were Ginn Field and runner-up Leonards.

The game appeared to be a pitchers' duel with the likes of Paul Marshall and Mike Landry getting the starting nods, both pitchers have been acclaimed as being the best in the league.

Pregame speculation proved to hold true as both pitchers were locked in a classic duel for four innings. Something had to give and it did in the fourth when Willie Strazzullo, Dave O'Neil, and Lenny Bellino put together three Eastside hits producing two runs.

The West came back behind the bats of Steve Marshall, Jack McGinty and Frank Vozzella, to even the score at 2 all.

In the sixth a Westside defensive lapse led to the winning run. Strazzullo singled, advanced to third on an error, and scored on a ground out. Ron Divenzer was the winner for the East coming in relief in the sixth for Landry. Paul Marshall was the loser going the distance for the West. Defensive gems were turned in by Strazzullo and Cafferalla.

All-stars featured in the game were: Leonards: Jim Campbell, Lennie Bellino, Don Allard, and Sam Bellino. Ginn: Peter Costello, Chris and Mark Landry, and Randy Pearl. Westside: Bill Rodgers, Jack McGinty, Pat Fortin, and Joe Costello. McDonald: Paul and Steve Marshall, Frank Vozzella, and Dan Fiorilli.

Coaching the East was Fred Cammon of Leonards and Tony Guarente of Ginn. Coaches for the West were Rich Spellman of Westside and Jerry Ferro of McDonald Field.

Beat the Leonards

The McDonald Twins took two straight from defending champ Leonards by scores of 10-1 and 8-6, to capture the Winchester recreation league baseball championship.

In the first game, Twins coach Jerry Ferro went with his ace, Steve Marshall, and it proved to be the right decision as Marshall moved down opposing batters en route to a convincing victory. Marshall was at his best striking out 12 Leonards batters, issuing only two walks and yielding three scattered hits.

Leonards started strong getting on the board in the first inning, but in the second Marshall took command and shut the door on Leonards potent bats.

The Twins got all they needed in the second on a timely hit by Ed Pratt which produced two Twin runs. Over the next five innings the Twins pounded Leonards pitching for 8 more unanswered runs. Marshall was aided by some fine defensive plays by Guy Cafferalla at third base. Cafferalla in turn was named the games outstanding defensive player.

Big guns at the plate for McDonald were,

Steve Marshall, Pratt, Cafferalla, Frank Vozzella, and Bob Cooke.

In the second game, Paul Marshall was coasting to victory, striking out nine Leonards batters and giving up only four hits, but the bubble was due to burst and the cooled off bats of Leonard heated up and knocked Marshall out of the box.

Frank Vozzella, who has been a starter to date filled the fireman role and came on to save the victory for Marshall and give the Twins the championship. Marshall and third baseman Guy Cafferalla provided the offensive punch for the Twins, collecting three hits apiece. Also aiding the McDonald cause were, Steve Capriullo, Vozzella, and Bob Fiore.

It was a well-deserved victory for the Twins as they displayed a complete team effort, improving every game. The team philosophy preached by Ferro proved to be the difference. Members of the championship team were: Paul & Steve Marshall, Guy Cafferalla, Frank Vozzella, Bob Fiore, Ed Pratt, Bob Cooke, Dave Vozzella, Mark Bingel, Hugo Lafuci, Ken Marshall and Jim Gibbons.

Girls soccer set to open season

The Winchester fall girls soccer season will open September 13. All girls from second grade through high school are welcome to play, and registration will be on August 30 and September 6 at places to be announced next week.

New teams will be chosen to include all registrants and the games will be at Leonard Field and at Ambrose if necessary.

New coaches are required for several teams and interested women and men should contact Peter Franchi of Woodside av. or Jim Earlam of Highland av. Coaches need not have soccer experience, for a desire to help and encourage players is much more important.

Kadesch wins at Corish Cup matches

Phil Kadesch of 15 Mayflower rd., currently No. 1 on the University of Wisconsin tennis varsity, represented New England in the Corish Cup matches played in Providence, R.I. last week.

These matches, involving players age 21 and under, pit the New England players against the Eastern, middle Atlantic and middle states sections of the U.S. Tennis Association.

Kadesch, playing at No. 2 for the four-man New England team, won two of his three singles matches. He also played on the No. 1 doubles team, also winning two out of three matches. The New England team tied the East and lost to the other two sections.

Immediately following the Corish Cup matches, Kadesch was one of two players to represent New England in the Junior Davis Cup Sectional Team Championships, held in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., involving 21 and under players from all over the country. He lost in the first round of singles to a representative of the Southern section but won in the first round of doubles over a team from the Texas section.

Town playgrounds close out the recreation season here

Town playgrounds brought all town summer programs to a close this past Friday with their annual trip to Lincoln Park.

Earlier in the week most of the attention was directed toward the baseball league play-offs. Semi-final action drew to a close Tuesday with Leonards and McDonald Fields entering into the finals which were held Wednesday morning and afternoon.

A consolation game was played Wednesday morning between Westside and Ginn Fields. With the all-star game being played on Thursday, all with the recreation playground bowling program, this didn't leave much time for many special activities which usually are held by each playground every week.

Ginn Field under instructors Tony Guarente and Chris O'Connor did have a few special closing events. Trophies were awarded to the baseball team MVP's Randy Pearl and Pete Costello. On Wednesday afternoon the girls of the playground were treated to a cookout and field day by Chris while the boys and Tony traveled to the Unicorn Country Club in Stoneham for a golf outing.

Thursday morning the children of all playgrounds were treated to a special show by Satan the Winchester police K-9 dog. Officer John Guarente directed the program for over 40 town youngsters.

On Thursday afternoon some hard work by instructor Tony Guarente paid off as he arranged a visit to the playground by general manager of the Boston Bruins, Harry Sinden. Sinden, a Winchester resident, handed out autographed pictures of the Bruins and also conducted a question and answer period for the children.

In closing the season the Recreation department would like to take this opportunity to thank the various organizations which assisted in programs this summer. Thanks to The Winchester Star, Winchester Sport Shop, Winchester Police & Fire Departments, Winchester Red Cross, Bowl-A-Way Lanes of Burlington, and the Winchester High School.

Lincoln Park trip climaxes season

The Winchester playgrounds had their final summer outing at Lincoln Park North Dartmouth last Friday to signify the end of another playground season.

Over 350 town youngsters from 8-16 boarded seven buses at the town hall parking lot Friday at 10 a.m. and arrived at Lincoln Park before the noon opening.

Beginning at noon and running till 3:30 all children were entitled to unlimited rides all afternoon.

Over 30 instructors, youth corps workers, and parents joined in supervising the groups which consisted of children representing, the playgrounds, tennis, swim team, swimming program, arts and crafts and girls softball.

Senior Service Line

Senior Service Line telephone hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Call 729-2111.

Chosen most valuable players of the Ginn Field baseball team, sponsored by the Recreation Department, are left, Randy Pearl and Pete Costello.

St. Eulalia youth hockey signups

Applications for St. Eulalia youth hockey are now being accepted for a two-phase, all-evening hockey program, for all boys 6-14. For boys 6-12, phase 1 consists of 10 hours of clinic. The clinic is designed to teach boys skating and hockey to get them in shape to minimize injury during the hockey games in phase 2.

All boys are evaluated at this time to try and establish balanced teams, by size and ability.

For boys 13 and 14 phase 1 consists of six hours of drills and each group will compete on three pre-season scrimmage games, before they are assigned to a team in phase 2.

Squirt, pee wee and bantam travel teams will also be selected. Call Dave Madigan, 30 Lockeland rd.

Couples in annual tennis tournament

The Third Annual Husband and Wife Tennis Tournament was held last weekend at the Parker Courts. There was a turnout of 50 couples.

The E. "Whit" Gray trophy was presented to Monika and Ron Salter, the 1975 winners of the tournament. They played against Stella and Bob Gallant in the final match on Sunday.

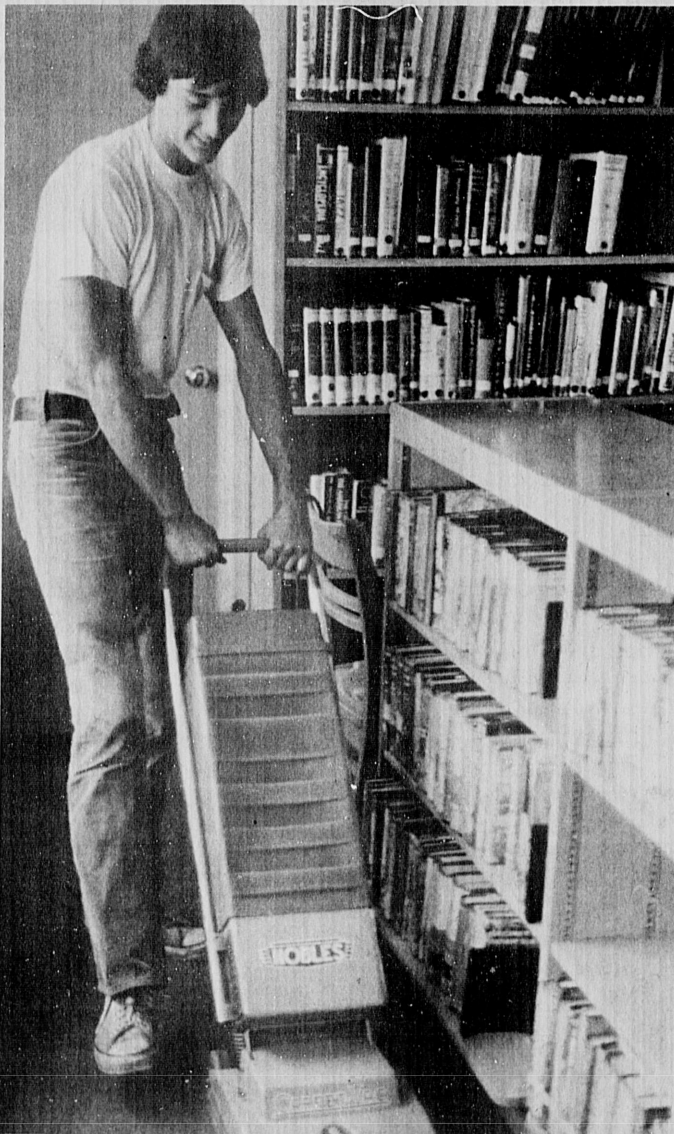

There was also a consolation tournament in which Pinky and Al Samoiloff defeated Sue and Clark Cowans.

care of lawns and building maintenance. They both voiced pleasure at having had a summer job and an opportunity to make money. Steve, a sophomore, and Paul, a senior who is transferring from the Northeast Regional Vocational School to Winchester High School, are undecided about their futures.

Ray Brock of 20 Tremont St., Ralph Mazzarella of 12 Wedge Pond rd. and Wayne Stevens of 622 Main st. have been members of a team working with Tony DeTeso, custodian at McCall Junior High School.

Working under the direction of Tony DeTeso, McCall Junior High custodian, Ray Brock, a Winchester High School junior vacuums the floors of the school library. He feels the work this summer in the summer youth program to have helped his "good fitness."

Swim tryouts Sept. 6, 13

The New England Barracudas will hold tryouts for all interested swimmers on Sept. 6 and Sept. 13 at the Middlesex Tennis Club, Bedford st., Lexington.

Various programs will be offered according to age and ability.

For applications and further information, contact Mrs. Michael Minutoli, 17 James st.

Walter Johnson is graduate

Wayne Eric Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of 47 Richardson st., was graduated from the Opticians' School of Framingham, having completed the required two-year program in optical science and dispensing.

Ray, who plans to be a gym teacher, considers his work at the school this summer has blended well into his "good fitness program." He has been doing general clean-up work, painting, washing, vacuuming, and repairing with Steve and Ralph and "learning a lot from the experience."

Ralph said he has enjoyed the work which has given him money to save for hockey equipment. He wants to play hockey for Winchester and eventually become a professional player.

Wayne has found the work to be "something to do instead of hanging around" and a time to learn to fix things. He wants to be a police officer.

Jody Stoffregen, who plans to enter Greenfield Community College in the fall, found the summer work experience to be especially beneficial because it helped her to make a decision about her future career.

According to Jody, her plans were to study art and psychology. But after participating in a bloodmobile and being a part of the "helping atmosphere," she has taken steps to add nursing to her study plans.

"I always hated hospitals, but after that bloodmobile, I understand more about nursing. I am now inspired," she said.

Mary Fowle, who works in the Red Cross office, had nothing but praise for Jody and her contributions. "She was attentive, very careful and did all she was asked to do ... and well," said Ms. Fowle.

According to Prior, the success of the program is due to the cooperative spirit of the youths and those who supervised them.

By showing good attendance records and work performance, the students and their employers benefitted, he said.

Prior pointed out that students in municipal work this summer caused no regular employees "to be bumped from their jobs."

The work done by the youths was performed in tandem with their immediate supervisors and other personnel in the department. As they trained and supervised the young men and women, they served as teachers and advisers in the field.

Prior doesn't have all the details as yet, but he is confident that a similar program will be in Winchester again this fall. Those who want more information should contact him at the Town Hall. His office is in the Board of Health Department.

MCAD warns about employment bias

The following statement was issued on July 29, by Glendora M. Putnam, chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD):

"The Commission Against Discrimination has had several requests recently concerning an employer's obligations vis-a-vis employees of the Jewish faith and those policies and restrictions of the Arab nations in doing business with local companies and concerns.

"It has come to the attention of the commission that, as a result of the Arab policies, certain American firms doing business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which employ members of the Jewish faith in management and other visible positions have taken action with respect to those employees or prospective employees which violates the anti-discrimination laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"Any employer who as a direct or indirect result of the Arab boycott discharges or refuses to hire Jews, or discriminates against Jews in compensation or in the terms, conditions or privileges of their employment violates General Laws Chapter 151B. It is an unlawful practice for an employer to exclude a member of the Jewish faith from certain jobs, projects or assignments because of that employee's religious creed or national origin whether such a policy of discrimination is one of the employer's own making or one imposed upon it by a concern with whom the local employer does business.

"The Commission will investigate all complaints arising under these circumstances and, indeed, intends to exercise its authority including its investigatory powers to uncover violations of the foregoing law, and to assure the adherence by Massachusetts employers to non-discriminatory employment policies.

"Any person who feels that his employment has been adversely affected in any way because of his or her religious creed or national origin should contact the Commission Against Discrimination."

Hardins return from Poland trip

Steven Hardin and Mrs. Barton Hardin of 76 North Border rd. returned home on Tuesday, July 28 from a 3-week tour of Poland (including a weekend also in Vienna, Austria). Steven is a member of the New England Youth Ensemble which was sponsored by Friendship Ambassadors, a New York City organization, for this tour — as a means of sharing music and friendship with the people of Poland.

They performed 17 concerts but the highlight of the trip was on their last day in Poland which coincided with President Ford's first day in the country and they gave a command performance for the President that evening. The President had presided over a State dinner with the Polish leaders (plus Secretary Kissinger) and after the dinner the Friendship Ambassador groups gave a 30 minute concert in the Palace for the guests. President Ford later met informally with the musicians and shook hands with them and told them how proud he was of them and their representing our country.

Steven plays the clarinet in the Ensemble and Mrs. Hardin went along as one of the sponsors of the group.

On dean's list

Peter Meissner, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Meissner of 28 Samoset rd., was named to the dean's list at the Berklee College of Music for work done last spring.

Meissner is majoring in applied music. Upon graduation he will be qualified as a teacher, arranger-composer and instrumentalist.

Selectmen on public safety:---

Combined police, fire department? Not now!

Lawrence T. Smith, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, this week denied selectmen have undisclosed plans to combine the fire and police departments into one to be called the Department of Public Safety.

Smith acknowledged there was discussion in June as to this possibility, but after talking and looking into the matter they decided against it "at the present time."

Selectman John J. Sullivan said: "That matter has been put to rest."

According to Smith, there is a possibility selectmen will recommend combining "certain clerical responsibilities," such as having one person process both payrolls.

But the primary reason the idea was shelved "is because state statute does not permit us to bargain with the fire and police departments collectively."

Looking at Arlington, a community which in recent months did combine fire and police into a Dept. of Public Safety, Smith said "they had some significant problems in adjusting to the changeover."

Winchester may some day need to take this action, said Smith. "We do not reject the concept." In matters of "common problems such as ambulance aid," it is a good idea, he noted.

Smith also denied that fire chief designee Capt. Robert W. McElhinney of the Winchester Fire Department will stand in temporarily until a future time when another head of Department of Public Safety can be named.

Smith said: "I know there are hurt feelings," referring to stories said to be circulating around Winchester concerning McElhinney's recent appointment.

"This always happens when you make a difficult decision," said Smith. "Our decision was unanimous. There was one ballot," he said adding that selectmen took no votes prior to choosing the five finalists of the 12 candidates for fire chief.

Smith said their selection was "based on achievement" and the overall "future of the town."

Monday night Chief Engineer I. Francis Amico and McElhinney appeared before selectmen to discuss transition of the fire chief post.

Smith asked Amico why "chief engineer" was not included in McElhinney's title.

"The reason for the title chief engineer goes way back," he explained that in 1912 and later "engineers operated engines," thus the title which was included in the town's laws "which haven't been changed."

"Now with the changing of our type of government," said Amico, "this chapter, I believe, will be deleted." The new law will designate "Chief of the Fire Department," said the retiring chief.

Selectmen commented that this change would make Amico the last "chief engineer" with the Winchester Fire Department.

Sullivan asked if the title brought forth prestige.

Smiling, Amico said the title "sounds like a person has two or three degrees. This is not true."

Amico, who has been spending the past two weeks helping McElhinney become more familiar with his responsibilities, will officially turn over the department to his successor at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in a ceremony at the Town Hall.

The families of both chiefs and friends will be present. According to Smith, the party may continue at the Fire Department.

At Monday's meeting, Amico received praise and thanks of selectmen for his service.

Sullivan complimented Amico in the "tremendous capabilities" shown by his 11 officers who were fire chief candidates.

"You leave a helluva fine group of officers and men," said Sullivan.

Selectman Arthur Dunbar pointed to happenings under Amico's regime: the opening of the West Side Fire Station and acquisition of "the finest equipment in the state." Dunbar said McElhinney "will do a good job because he was brought up under you."

William C. Chapman offered thanks for Amico's "dedication and devotion" and thanked Amico for "your family, a great part of this."

In response, Amico said he "couldn't have done it without my men. They made it all possible."

School Committee scraps Metco idea

An ever-worsening state financial crisis dealt the killing blow to the Metco program in Winchester, when the School Committee voted 4-2 Monday night to scrap it for the 1975-76 school year.

Even as the final curtain was descending on the long, agonizing drama, two members of the committee pleaded with their colleagues for reprieve - to "hang in there" for just a little while.

But their supplications fell on deaf ears, especially after the board heard a description of fiscal failings in the Commonwealth from State Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh, who held almost no hope that state funding would come in time to implement Metco in what radio newscasters are fond of calling "that lovely bedroom town of Winchester."

Members Cathy Fallon and Robert Frank, were hopeful that other communities in the Metco program would cut down their funding needs to allow new towns to join the program, towns such as Winchester, Beverly and Randolph.

They told their colleagues they felt that it was not too much to ask, and it could do no harm at this late date, to hold off for another few weeks, which would also put them within the final cutoff date set at the Monday night meeting by schools Superintendent William C. MacDonald. Actually, he had given two dates, Sept. 29 and Oct. 6, which he said would provide the minimum time needed to get the program started here.

The motion that gutted Metco came from a surprise source - Stephen Parkhurst, former chairman who had consistently supported the Metco idea from its inception last November. However, he said he felt it had been given a fair chance and that the funding would not be forthcoming from the state. His motion called for rescinding the program for Winchester for 1975-76.

"I'm very sorry," he said, "but I see no hope. We can't drag it on any longer."

Just before that, Mr. Saltmarsh told the meeting, (almost as crowded as the session a week earlier when the board voted to delay implementation of the program pending definite state funding), that he had talked with state education officials Parks and Anrig and they saw little hope of funding even under "critical needs" conditions.

"I think you are going to have to wait to see what is going to come out of the Legislature," he said, "and that doesn't hold much promise. It is going to be a long pull."

Earlier, Chairman Richard Pharo read a letter from Parks and told the meeting there was no indication from the state about when the funding would come. The Winchester School Committee had made a commitment to the town not to spend any town funds until

State 'signals'

The state late Tuesday confirmed prior fears of budget cutting and elimination of some participation in the Metco program, when it sent out as a "signal" to local school committees. However, even though the Massachusetts Board of Education put the Metco program on an austerity footing, it still had not received the final budget figure. It had asked for $6.2 million but the amount was cut to $5.4 million by Education Affairs Sec. Paul Parks and Gov. Dukakis. This information entered into the Winchester School Committee's deliberations Monday.

they received absolute assurance from the Commonwealth that it would provide the necessary $100,000.

Voting in favor of Parkhurst's motion to rescind their commitment to Metco were Chairman Pharo, Mary Pronski (who had been against Metco from the start), and Jack Noble.

Mrs. Fallon, committee vice chairman, and Frank, stuck to their guns to the last. Frank said later that at least his colleagues were still in favor of the concept of Metco.

The committee's chamber was not unlike a television news studio at times. A cameraman moved around, making crowd background shots. After the meeting, the television news people from Channel 7 interviewed some of the committee members. The retinue included newscaster Ted O'Brien who had a producer a la Hollywood in tow to help round up the subjects. The interviews were shown an hour later on the Eleven O'Clock News on Channel 7, which used the School Committee action as its lead story.

WHS athletes start practice

Candidates for the boys' Fall sports programs at Winchester High reported for the pre-season physical examinations Sunday afternoon. There was a total of 142 boys examined by Dr. William D. Barone with 84 turning out for football, 46 listed for soccer and 13 others for cross country.

Practice sessions will be held this week, thus giving the boys the full benefit of the week of pre-season practice which is authorized by the Headmasters' Association. Coach Manny Marshall's football team practiced at home on Monday and Tuesday of this week and then went to camp at Sharn for more extensive practice sessions. They will be back home in time for their annual Labor Day workouts and their first scrimmage will be with Somerville at Knowlton Stadium next Wednesday afternoon.

Other scrimmages are carded with Masconomet away from home on Wednesday the 10th, and there will be one with Billerica at home a week later. The final scrimmage will fine the Sachems pitted against Arlington on the Spy Ponders' field Saturday morning, Sept. 20. This workout will be a full-game one and replaces the tenth game which most schools are playing this year.

Revenue-sharing

Town will ask HUD to include senior citizen center in funds

Following a public hearing Monday and on the advice of selectmen, town engineer John Garcia and John Brown, Planning Board consultant, will contact the U. S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to see if a block grant request for certain community improvements in Winchester might be amended to include a senior citizen center.

According to Brown, about two weeks ago, the town was informed by HUD of their having funds from a revenue-sharing program earmarked for programs of public works, elderly needs, recreation and certain other categories.

Brown said the program is designed to assist communities in housing and community programs.

Because of a Sept. 15 deadline to apply for the funds, not to exceed $100,000 for any one project with a total amount of $225,000, Brown and Garcia sat down and completed the application form listing projects they considered to be important, broken down as follows:

1. $25,000 for curb cuts at intersections for the use of persons traveling in wheelchairs and the elderly;

2. $80,000 for improvements to Lockeland Park, including tennis courts, basketball court, fencing, grading, loaming, seeding and drainage.

3. $100,000 for a Cambridge street sewer outfall.

4. $10,000 for planning and management development.

5. $10,000 for administration.

Just because the money is available is no sign it will come, noted Brown. "If you submit a request for three or four, you might get one or two," he said. Further, he intimated by establishing interest with HUD, chances for funds next year may be better.

Brown pointed out that if funds for any of the programs are received, they must be used for the program specified on the application.

He assured selectmen that having an application approved does not "lock-in" the town. Nothing becomes final until the date the contract is signed.

Dr. Robert Norberg of the Winchester

Council on Aging and town meeting member Justin M. James Jr. inquired about priorities on such a grant request.

Norberg asked "how a grand proposal like this comes about."

He reiterated some of the problems the Council on Aging has been through during the past year in their attempts to get funding for a senior citizen center. The center was approved by Town Meeting and planned to be built on the Skillings Path site, only to result in a change in state government and a loss of funding which was to have come through the Dept. of Community Affairs.

"We are still left with a growing seniors program and no funding," said Norberg. He described their room at Lincoln School as inadequate to meet the needs of the many elderly who visit there.

He asked if a senior center might be included in the HUD request.

James, who said sewer programs should be first, considers a pool at Leonard Beach as next priority. The youngsters who use Leonard Beach need a clean place to swim, said James.

Brown explained the particular grant in question is not for larger community programs such as those serving the overall populace but rather for a neighborhood.

He gave as an example a small fire station for a neighborhood where there is high fire risk rather than a new fire station for the entire town.

He also said that if funding for a social services program, such as one for low cost housing, has been turned down from any other source, this would be eligible.

He stipulated, however, there is a limit of $100,000 for any one project.

Norberg said the estimate for the senior citizen center is $250,000.

On the suggestion of selectmen chairman Lawrence T. Smith, the men will check with HUD and "see if there is any flexibility" and if the original application might be amended.

The public hearing will continue next Tuesday in the selectmen's office.

Another matter which was before the ## Board assigns area for new refuse facility

The Board of Health voted to assign the present Winchester incinerator area for a new refuse disposal facility.

It is expected this facility will be a transfer station.

The Board of Health's action followed a public hearing Aug. 18, required by Chapter 111, Section 150A of the General Laws of Massachusetts.

No one from the public attended the meeting.

According to Vartkes Karaian of the Solid Waste Disposal Committee, the Board did not specify "transfer station" in the wording of their motion in the event the town, before finalizing its plans for the transfer station, includes something like recycling into the total program.

Recently, Karaian and Albert H. Mooradian, also of the Solid Waste group, reported the need for three additional test borings, to be done by C. E. Maguire Inc., design engineers from Providence, R. I. Earlier borings were done free by a private concern.

On the recommendation of the Solid Waste Disposal Committee and the endorsement of the Board of Selectmen, the Permanent Building Committee is expected to ask the Finance Committee to earmark $3,500 from reserve funds to pay for the additional borings.

Mooradian said the borings are needed to be sure the transfer station is on a firm foundation. If all goes as presently planned, April is the target date for completion.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

'Pluck the day'

They could have hung in there.

The four members of the School Committee who voted Monday night to scrap the Metco program for Winchester's 1975-76 school year, could have heeded the pleas of two of their colleagues and waited for a couple of weeks before delivering the coup de grace.

But they chose not to for various reasons—mostly because they were tiring of it all and wanted, they said, to get on to other concerns.

As a result of their action, it is a certainty now that the Metco program will not come to Winchester this year. Forty five black kids won't be attending first and second grades in this town, which a radio newscaster described as a "lovely bedroom town," Tuesday morning as he recounted the action of the night before.

The kids instead will be thrust into the explosive scene in Boston and confront a continuing traumatic situation in which they are innocent victims.

But even aside from all that, they will not be gaining the experience that might have been theirs if Metco had made it to Winchester. "Number one community in the state."

It has been the experience of other communities in which the Metco program works—for instance, Lexington—that it has been enriching both for the youngsters who live in the town and for the black students from the grey, grimly depressing environs of Roxbury, Mattapan and Dorchester.

A black student whose name comes immediately to mind is Ron Lee of Roxbury, who made his mark as a basketball star at Lexington High, and in fact led that team to the state title two years in a row. He went on to star at the University of Oregon. Opportunities were opened to him in Lexington that might not otherwise have come about. Metco was a passport to better education, better opportunity for him and his contemporaries.

But even though Ron Lee is exceptional in that athletic context, there may well be other black kids who are outstanding in other ways. They are exposed to a better chance here, to more opportunity to grasp that ever-elusive brass ring as members of the Metco program.

In Lexington's experience, it was not at all uncommon to hear black youngsters expressing their disappointment on inclement weather days, days on which school classes had to be cancelled. They had been heard to say that it mattered not one bit to them—in fact they relished the idea—of getting up far before dawn to make sure they didn't miss the bus out of their living hell, the bus that would carry them into the warm brilliance of a friendly, clean town and where they could find true expression of their humanity.

For them every day is a day to be plucked, to be cherished and enriched away from Boston.

At the risk of being accused of beating a dead horse, we take this occasion to regret the action of the Winchester School Committee in wiping out the Metco program for this year.

But we take solace in the fact that they—or at least the majority—still believe in the concept of the program.

In that case, we hope that Mrs. Cathy Fallon, the vice chairman, and her colleague, Robert Frank, who fought to the last, will find inspiration from their noble efforts to come back again, to try next year.

Let it not be misunderstood here that aspersions of any kind are cast at the committee, for we are sure all acted in good conscience. Metco is perhaps more victim of the financial dilemma that confronts all of us these days, private persons and state alike, more than anything else.

Reaction to rating of town as No. 1: some are amused

By Pauline Dishmon

The featuring of Winchester in an August issue of "Ladies Home Journal" as a leading community in the nation and number one in the state seems to have overly-impressed some residents while others find it all somewhat amusing.

This week, selectmen received a communication from Planning Board Chairman Michael Boodakian suggesting "signs on approaches to Winchester be altered to read Welcome to Winchester No. 1 Community in the State."

Boodakian said the Planning Board was in agreement with his recommendation and considers the merits of the Journal's survey to be irrelevant.

The Journal claims to have had 99 experts on the case of picking the final of the best.

In seeking a best community, we understand the Journal asked the question: "Are there any suburbs left where physical attractiveness, community pride, easy transportation, good schools, favorable taxes, racial harmony and an exciting, rewarding community life — plus a low crime rate — really make life worth living?"

The question itself brings up additional questions of a society's values and those of an individual.

What does make life worth living? To one it may be acquiring material possessions. To another it may be good health.

It is certainly true that Winchester with its affluence and community pride is attractive.

One need only attend one School Committee meeting and visit one of the many schools just for a day to witness good schools, skilled educators and attempts to make things better.

Winchester's public transportation is good when going to Boston and Woburn, but to other points a car is necessary.

A look at the town's summer playground activities, school and resident-funded sports activities, private and paternal clubs, boating on Mystic Lakes, continuing theatre, along with discarded beer bottles, vandalism, and reports on the daily police journal tell a story of excitement.

And all of this costs money. Payment is made by individual participants who pay dues or fees, victims who have to pick up the pieces, or the general taxpaying population.

Favorable taxes? What is favorable? It was apparent through a long tedious annual town meeting that town members were not happy with the tax situation. They played the penurious role to the hilt.

Racial harmony? What exactly is that? Is it a "Six Weeks Adventure" program? Is it "A Better Chance" house on Dix street?

Is it inviting a man named Clay Smothers to talk in a church?

Is it a Metco program that doesn't come to town because the state won't assure funding by a certain date?

These are questions each resident — if he or she is going to take credence in the Journal's award — must answer.

A Winchester resident who took the Journal's findings with light heart brought The Star a page from "The Evening Bulletin," published in Philadelphia.

In her column, Rose DeWolf wonders why one of Philadelphia's lovely suburbs did not make the list. She continues:

"It turns out that the Journal didn't actually bother to look at all — or even most — U.S. suburbs before determining for us which are 'the best.' It merely pre-selected 10 urban areas and asked people from those areas which of their own suburbs they preferred."

"Would you believe they even counted New York City as three out of the 10 pre-selected areas? They didn't manage to even sneak a peek at the suburbs of Philadelphia or Detroit or Milwaukee or St. Louis, but they considered as separate categories those suburbs east of New York, southeast of New York and north of New York."

"Good grief," wrote DeWolf.

She continued: "Now, obviously, even if one did make an effort to be comprehensive, any choice of 'the best' is bound to be open to argument."

"What makes life worth living for one is not necessarily the heart's desire of another. The Journal extols the town of Winchester, outside Boston, for example, because it refuses to allow a pizza parlor there. Yet, from my point of view, a town that is totally pizza-less is not only not-worth-living-in, it may not even be worth visiting."

"The Journal's idea of a place where life is worth living seems to be a place where most people cannot afford to live," said DeKalb.

As I recall, last spring selectmen received a communication from "Ladies Home Journal" suggesting they complete a form answering certain questions in order to be considered one of the best suburbs.

At the time, selectmen didn't seem to take the matter seriously. They were too busy taking care of their agendas and preparing warrants for town meetings.

Time passed and the next thing we knew, Winchester won first honors with the Journal. At a subsequent selectmen's meeting, Edward Donnelly, executive secretary, was thanked for completing the form.

Monday night, Mrs. A. H. Maguire, secretary to selectmen, noted she met a Journal editor and answered some of his questions. This gives indication that Winchester, at least, was visited.

But, who, besides a few at Town Hall, did the Journal editors see and talk with?

Are the merits of their survey irrelevant?

In his letter to selectmen, Boodakian noted that since the Journal recognition, "real estate agents selling property in this town have capitalized on this being the No. 1 community in the Commonwealth." That's rather interesting, isn't it?

Boodakian said: "The fact that we were selected for this honor, we think, is attributed to the untiring efforts of its many boards and committees that are spending thousands of hours to help make this town a better place to live."

He said: "Letters of praise to these boards and committees, and others who have helped this town merit such an honor, have been conspicuously absent from the local paper. It seems that we are only criticized for our actions, but never complimented."

It is true. Members of town boards and committees work diligently for betterment and get little praise. But the absence of letters in The Star is because we haven't received any. We will print all we get.

Oh, incidentally, in their discussion Monday night, selectmen decided to write "Ladies Home Journal" and thank them for the recognition. They also rejected the Planning Board's idea to alter signs leading into the town.

Wonder where that idea originated anyway?

Quote of the week: "You can't shine a sneaker."

This was said by selectman John J. Sullivan as he indicated negative support for proposed traffic changes at various town intersections which, if implemented, will be funded under the Topics program.

Sullivan said he can "conceive route 15 in Connecticut" and feels the proposed changes will bring forth nothing but "more signs, more islands and more traffic lights" in residential neighborhoods.

I gather the sneaker in this case refers to the traffic safety problems which Sullivan feels will not improve with the addition of free equipment which may result in greater traffic problems.

Turning back the clock to the Revolution: bad times

By Donna Curtis

The economic conditions of today are enough to make any hard-working Yankee man moan a bit. What with terms like runaway inflation and fluctuating wholesale price indexes, perhaps many Americans would like to see the clock turned back a few years. But if one takes a good look at the conditions of this country following the Revolution they certainly would be far more content to live with this era's definition of rampant inflation.

The Revolutionary War was a great financial burden for such a small and poor nation as ours was at the time.

According to Chapman in the "History of Winchester"

"The closing years of the Revolution and for 10 years thereafter were extremely hard on the residents of this area."

"Taxes were exorbitant when the means of the people at large are considered. In the year 1780 no less than eight different taxes were assessed on the people of Woburn, including of course the residents of this part of the old town, and these in addition to the regular town tax, which was formerly the chief tax to be collected."

"They all amounted to more than $40,000 in 'lawful money' or coin and they were divided among not many more than 300 taxpayers, almost all of them farmers, who saw little enough money at any time."

"And so small was the value of the paper currency that the taxes for this year, 1780, expressed in paper, amounted to no less than a million and a quarter dollars!"

The local government tried its hand at price freezing; threatening those who violated its regulations with exposure in the Boston papers as "an enemy of his country," and being cut off from all intercourse and dealings with other inhabitants of the town."

These resolutions though were not effective and prices continued to rise.

"At the end of the war paper money was worth so little, the Town of Woburn directed its treasurer to 'dispose' of all the bills in the treasury, provided he could get a dollar in coin for as little as a $150, in paper."

"Financial worries bore so heavily on everybody that there was a good deal of quiet sympathy with those farmers in the western part of the State who lost all patience, and attributing their distress to the government, flamed out into the insurrection called Shays's Rebellion in 1786."

"Woburn actually voted not to give any aid or assistance to the state in recruiting men to put down the insurrection, and 'not to make any pay or allowance to any persons that hired or went of their own accord' on such service."

The difficulties of the early Americans continued until 1788 with the formation of a solid government under the Constitution and the establishment of a sound and stable currency.

Grateful

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am retiring as chief engineer of the Winchester Fire Department on Aug. 31, 1975.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and the staff of your newspaper for the cooperation given me and my department in the many years I have had the pleasure of being a member.

The many news releases concerning fires and the fire prevention items I have asked you to publish have been a great community service by your newspaper.

Wishing you and your staff good health and success in the future, I remain,

The good news

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It seems most news from the media is depressing, critical and catastrophic. Seldom do we read or hear about what's good with the world.

For the past year the news in The Star has been pretty grim with much negative criticism.

Actually, we live in a great town with some very fine, concerned citizens, but sometimes we get carried away and forget to give praise for those who deserve it.

Winchester has several service clubs who proudly, but quietly further the ideal of a service to the community. They do this in many ways helping the less fortunate, the hospital, the aged and the youth of our town.

For many years Winchester Youth Hockey, Inc., a volunteer organization, has provided a program for the boys of Winchester to learn skating skills and participate in supervised hockey during the long winter months. This is an expensive program and many boys would not be able to participate if it were not for the generosity of many of our service clubs.

The boys, parents and Winchester Youth Hockey extend our grateful appreciation to Rotary, EnKa, Kiwanis, Aberjona Post 3719 V.F.W. and Elks.

Winchester can be proud of these organizations for the many fine contributions they make to the well being of our town.

Sky-high

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

After a year of investigating supermarket prices a special legislative commission on Beacon Hill has begun filing bills aimed at reducing food costs!

Did the legislature really need to spend the taxpayers money to investigate the supermarkets? Did it ever occur to the legislature that it is not the supermarkets that need investigations? When are the politicians going to stop bluffing the public and get down to the business of investigating the utility companies who now have $400 million in rate hikes pending before the DPU? They know that these hikes are passed onto the consumer in the supermarkets, department stores, hotels, rents etc! and this is where the meat of the problem lies!

What sort of bills can they file to reduce the cost of food? Are they the same sort of bills that will waste the consumers' time and energy trying to buck the well-paid lobbyist of the food industry as has happened with the utility legislation?

The legislature has let the utility companies run rampant over the consumers and the businesses — unfortunately the consumer has no one to pass his cost onto!

COFFEE, INC. filed legislation to eliminate the recent unfair practice of charging businesses 1 1/2 percent interest if they are 25 days late paying their utility bills (18 percent per annum). (This is passed onto the consumer!) This bill died in committee even though the committee was bombarded with letters and telegrams from the business communities asking to have this heard on the floor of the House of Representatives. The small businessman could never get a straight answer from Rep. Ambler as to the reason why, therefore, we must form our own opinions!

John Q. Public does not have the pleasure of playing golf or having expensive dinners with the lobbyist for the utility companies to

Advocacy is sought in the budget for special children

By Jacqueline Davison

When economic times demand financial austerity, state government faces tough decisions as the annual budget is being debated.

Decision-making about children's services is particularly difficult because children's needs — for day care, health care, social services, mental health programs and other services do not diminish during recession or inflation. Even in the best of times the Commonwealth has not been able to provide needed services to all children it is responsible for serving.

The children's budget for fiscal year 1976 (A list of items which the Office For Children "tracks" through the budget process) is now before the Legislature.

The children's budget represents the most critically needed children's services provided by five state agencies including expenditures for such services as child abuse and neglect prevention, lead paint poisoning prevention, mental health services for children, emergency care for troubled adolescents and programs for retarded and physically handicapped children.

In addition to being preventive programs, without which children would require more intensive and expensive services, these items reflect needs that were identified by citizens groups such as the Mystic Valley Council for Children and data collected by the Help For Children information and referral program.

The Mystic Valley Council for Children, acting as an arm of the state Office For Children, completed a needs assessment last February which showed which service areas for children were still an necessity: adolescent crisis care, recreation for special needs children, after-school day care, homemaker services, individual and family counseling and day care.

The entire state budget is now being scrutinized by the House Ways and Means Committee, which is hearing testimony from agency heads. The Ways and Means Committee has asked each cabinet secretary to evaluate the impact of a possible 20 percent cut in their budgets.

A cut of that magnitude, if enacted across the board, would drastically reduce services for Massachusetts children. Children from the Mystic Valley area are no exception, as the effects of such budget cuts will certainly be felt.

The Mystic Valley Council for Children has, like the other 39 councils across the state, already been slashed in children's program money from $130,000 of FY'75 to a projected $108,000 for this FY'76. From this latter projected figure, all of the new programs created by local human service agencies and funded by the Council to meet the identified needs, have not been allowed to commence. Among those programs effected are:

1. A special needs recreation program for 75 youngsters from Arlington. Administered by the Recreation Dept. of Arlington, it would serve children with physical and emotional handicaps through the winter from September to June, for the sum of $6,100.

2. An after-school day care program run by the Memorial School Parents Teachers Organization in Burlington. The program would serve 25 children ages 6-12 from 3-6pm. This is a model program which hopes to serve as an example for other community school groups to follow, $3,500.

3. A "special support" day care program run by the Arlington Children's Center. The Program provides half tuition for the children of parents who are above Welfare eligibility criteria ($10-15,000) yet have assorted family problems or handicaps, $2,700.

4. Emergency foster care for adolescents in crisis or in need of temporary shelter. This project would provide for a short term foster home in each of the six Mystic Valley towns. The program would take referrals from the Juvenile Court system, police, clergy and other youth agencies.

The above stated examples are only a sampling of assorted children's services that are in jeopardy of even beginning. The Office For Children and the Mystic Valley Council for Children are now working to explain in very specific terms the impact such cuts would have on all children and their families.

For more information concerning how Winchester residents are affected by the 1976 children's budget, call Bob Good at the Council office, 729-4350. The Council's office is located in the First Congregational Church in Winchester Center.

discuss this legislation. We have to take our turn at hearings to make fools of ourselves pleading for something that we know will never come to pass. This has been proven over the past two and one half years since we have been pleading for much needed relief.

The businesses that are leaving this state are quick to blame their flight on welfare! If they were honest with themselves they would admit that this (welfare) is a problem that can easily straighten itself out with the proper staffing and upgrading of the welfare department! Not one business has laid any of the blame where it rightfully belongs, on the monopolies of this state! Did they finally realize that the banks, utility and oil companies are well interlocked and therefore decided it was a losing battle?

The taxpayers are in trouble again because the state owes the electric companies $50 million dollars for electricity used in state buildings and the city of Boston owes Boston Edison $1.3 million!

The legislature should fully realize that if we do not like the price of food at one supermarket we always have the choice of going to another to shop around for a bargain. This is not so with the monopolies of this state!

It is about time the governor and the legislature put a task force together and dive into the public utility mess once and for all! Natalie I. Leonardi, President Consumers Organization For Fair Energy Equality Selectmen indicated favoring the license but before granting it want to notify neighbors and give them a final opportunity to offer comments.

On a 3-1 vote (Barbara Hankins absent and Arthur Dunbar voting no), selectmen accepted a list of rules to be followed by holders of licenses and participants in Beano games.

Before the rules are issued, selectmen are giving dissenter Dunbar an opportunity to rephrase one of the rules which he could not accept as originally drafted. Dunbar has one week to prepare his amendment.

Concert terrific

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It could only have been through an oversight that the Star failed to write up the closing band concert of the season.

It was terrific. It represented the continued and combined efforts of so many people, and thrilled the audience of about a thousand who attended.

Volunteers brought patients from C.C.U., parents brought children, neighbors brought friends. It was a wonderful assortment of townspeople.

The climax of the evening was the playing of the "1812 Overture." This was done with the help of the Reading Company of Militia and Minute Men. Firing their guns over the water, and Don Spinney, who rang the Town Hall bells. Needless to say, but I will the audience responded with a standing ovation.

It was an evening to be remembered. Mr. Murray, the director, and all the musicians have added so much to the summer pleasure of so many.

Impressed

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Last Wednesday, Aug. 13, I took my family to Canobie Lake Park, New Hampshire. While we were there I had the opportunity to observe staff members of the Winchester Recreation Department working with retarded children and young adults.

We were so impressed by the care, kind attention and fondness with which the counselors treated their charges that I couldn't resist writing to you about it.

I hope the families of these children realize how lucky they are to receive such love away from home. Each one was cared for on a one-to-one basis and given the undivided attention, so necessary.

If I were a parent of one of those youngsters, I would indeed consider myself fortunate to have them in such good hands. They were treated so kindly and lovingly at all times that it was a credit to the Winchester Recreation Department.

If any of these young people pursue a career in special education, it would be a big plus for the state of Massachusetts — since it seems this area gets nothing but "bad press" every time something is reported in the newspapers.

Congratulations to these fine people. I wish I could tell each one personally.

Thoreau captures Cape Cod mood with pen and prose

By ELIZABETH Star Columnist

"I bet Henry David Thoreau was never caught in a traffic jam on the way to the Cape," muttered my long-suffering spouse. Waves of light-refracting heat eddied around the endless line of cars stretching ahead.

My attempts to read choice paragraphs of Thoreau's descriptions of Cape Cod didn't help his mood as we crept by stalled car after stalled car on the shoulder of the road one recent hot Saturday noon.

The Bourne bridge was miles away as the temperature gauge climbed into the dangerous zone.

Thoreau made several trips to the Cape beginning in 1849. On that trip he walked with a companion to Provincetown from Orleans in order to study the Cape flora and the ocean's many moods more closely and to contrast them with his Concord countryside.

"He probably made better time on foot than I am doing here," husband complained as he turned his car around on the median strip and headed north toward Plymouth.

We eventually made it to the Cape and in the process discovered what a wonderful guide Thoreau is! The insight and sensitivity of the Concord naturalist is as fresh now as it was when he recorded his observations 126 years ago. The sandy, wind-lashed, ocean-sculptured land has changed little.

Thoreau's prose reads like poetry at times. He wrote lyrically: "This Cape Cod is anchored to the heavens . . . by a myriad little cables of beach grass."

He loved the barren and wild Cape which he called a "wild, rank place, and there is no flattery in it." He had little concern for the tourist who preferred bowling, amusement parks, and mint juleps at tamer summer resorts. He disliked hotels and sought out accommodations with lighthouse keepers and fishermen.

Miss Quinn plans late fall rites

Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Quinn, of 3 Oneida rd., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Grace, to John Joseph Manning, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Manning of Medford.

Miss Quinn attended Marycliff Academy in Winchester and Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Mr. Manning graduated from Northeastern University and received his master's degree from Boston State. He is presently a teacher at Chelsea High School. A late fall wedding is planned.

For him "a storm in the fall or winter is the time to visit it; a lighthouse or fisherman's hut the true hotel. A man may stand there and place all America behind him."

Thoreau's description of the majestic ocean is memorable. In a philosophical mood he wrote: "The seashore is a sort of neutral ground, a most advantageous point from which to contemplate this world. . . . The waves forever rolling to the land are too far traveled and untamable to be familiar. Creeping along the endless beach amid the sun-squall and the foam, it occurs to us that we, too, are the product of sea-slime."

He disliked resort beaches with hotels. He wrote "But I wished to see that seashore where man's works are wrecks; to put up at the true Atlantic House, where the ocean is land-lord as well as sea-lord, and comes ashore without a wharf for the landing."

He loved to watch the changing ocean moods. His descriptions of waves are beautiful. "The breakers looked like droves of a thousand wild horses of Neptune, rushing to the shore, with their white manes streaming far behind, and when, at length, the sun shone for a moment, their manes were rainbow-tinted. Also, the long kelp weed was tossed up from time to time, like tails of sea cows sporting in the brine."

by JIM CONNELLY

Recent statistics show that over 80 percent of all students who apply for college jobs get them. At some colleges jobs actually go begging. One out of every three schools reported more openings than they could fill. The bigger the college the greater proportion of students work. At universities with 20,000 or more enrollment, fifty percent of the men and forty percent of the women work. It is more than possible these days, therefore, to work your way through.

Ballet School in new quarters here

The Harriet Hctor Winchester Ballet School, under the direction of Miss Mary Bigelow, will begin its 25th season in Winchester at its new location, 19 Thompson st., this September.

The Winchester Ballet School was begun in 1950 by the former ballerina of the Great Ziegfeld, Harriet Hctor. Last September Miss Bigelow took over the school upon the request of Miss Hctor.

Prior to taking over the ballet school, Miss Bigelow had studied with and taught for Miss Hctor many years. In 1968 her dancing talent helped her win the title of "Miss U.S.A.-World" in San Diego, California. She was chosen as one of the 15 finalists out of the 50 representatives.

She has danced professionally throughout New England and has danced with the Boston Ballet Company. She and three other members of the Boston Ballet Company danced at the White House for the late Lyndon B. Johnson in December of 1968. Besides studying with Miss Hctor she has also studied at the Boston School of Ballet in New York.

In commemoration of the school's 25th year in Winchester, Miss Bigelow announces that all pupils registered by September 11 will be eligible for a drawing in which first prize will be a full scholarship to the school for the new season (Sept.-June). Second prize will be a $25 scholarship towards tuition, and third prize will be a ballet practice outfit consisting of leotard and tights.

New group eyes how federal funds are spent in hospitals

A fast growing organization on the Massachusetts hospital scene today is the Massachusetts Utilization Review Association (MURA), initiated by Winchester resident, Mrs. Mary Simeone, RN.

The program was begun in January, 1974 as a small meeting of utilization review coordinators at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford.

Through the persistence and hard work of the charter group, MURA was created as a forum for those involved in the vital and expanding field of utilization review.

According to Donna Lee Umama, public relations director of Lawrence Memorial, utilization review itself began in hospitals in 1966 as a requirement of the early Medicare program.

Hospitals receiving reimbursement for services from Medicare and Medicaid were required to provide the government with assurances that the services rendered were necessary and performed in the best way possible at the least cost.

To do this, hospitals established utilization review committees comprised of staff physicians to oversee and evaluate the efficient use of professional medical care and hospital services, procedures and facilities.

Due to the complexities of the program, many hospitals created departments of utilization review and coordinators to oversee the program and assist the UR committee.

"When I was first appointed coordinator of the newly-formed department of utilization review at Lawrence Memorial Hospital in 1973, I realized that inherent in UR there were no consistently defined guidelines," said Mrs. Simeone.

"I began to recognize the extraordinary complexities involved as new and varied regulations were continually coming out from Medicare, Medicaid and Blue Cross."

Mrs. Simeone decided to get together with other UR coordinators to compare programs. In January 1974, seven UR coordinators from area hospitals met at the Greater Boston Utilization Review Coordinators at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford under Mrs. Simeone's leadership.

Unknown to the participants at the time, MURA was born.

Officers were first elected in May 1974 and by June 1974 clarification of the objectives and functions of MURA were established.

Concurrently with this activity, the HEW-designated Professional Standards Review Organizations (PSRO) were being established to bear the overall responsibility for assuring that quality health care was provided to patients.

With the state of Massachusetts divided into five PSRO areas, MURA was logically divided into a similar pattern. The structure was established and through the courtesy of the Massachusetts Hospital Association, letters were sent to hospital administrators announcing the formal organization of MURA.

The organization continued to grow and meetings were held in the various PSRO areas. As the association began taking more definable form, member groups began developing activities and creating outlets for the exchange of information. By February 1975, by-laws had been drafted and adopted and officers elected for a new term.

Chosen to lead the association were: executive director, Martha Jane Ekstrand, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital; president, Mary Hood, Beth Israel Hospital; vice-president Joanne Lamprey, Leonard Morse Hospital; executive secretary, Mary Simeone, Lawrence Memorial Hospital; and executive treasurer, Alice Vandale, St. Vincent's Hospital.

Now after only 18 months, the existence of MURA has stimulated interest from other areas and the association has shared suggestions and steps in its development with UR coordinators in neighboring states.

Mary Simeone

MURA currently has a membership drive going on and welcomes inquiries from all staffs associated with utilization review. A newsletter planned for publication in August will feature a summary of the organization's activities to date, information regarding the annual meeting to be held September 1975, and also the names and hospital locations of the MURA executive committee members.

'Blythe Spirit'

The Quannapowitt Players of Reading have chosen for their opening production of the 1975-76 season, "Blythe Spirit," a ghost-filled comedy by Noel Coward.

Performances will be held Sept. 26, 27, 28, and Oct. 2, 3 and 4.

Tickets may be obtained at the Book Nook, Haven street, Reading.

Overconfident Rotary team splits softball openers

State Representative "Whip" Saftmarsh helped to kick off the Rotary Softball League season by pitching the first ball. He said he's used to pitching from the "hill" and showed good motion and delivery. There was a brief delay as "Whip" was reluctant to relinquish the mound.

An overconfident team dropped their season opener to Somerville by a score of 21-16. The Winchester entry had compiled a 13-2 advantage after one inning of play, but Somerville aided by some inept fielding and the lazy bats of the Winchester squad never quit coming.

Manager Jack Kean conferred with team physician and player Tom Mulvaney hoping to check the choke epidemic which had seized the team, but unfortunately there is no known cure.

Hungry for a win, the team traveled to Winthrop for game number two. The Winthrop Club, with three starters on the injured list, were unable to cope with the hard hitting locals. The final score was Winchester 41 - Winthrop 11.

Lane to LaFauci to Callahan may never gain the immortality of Tinkers to Evers to Chance, but this Rotary trio, plus third baseman Dean Estabrook, gives the Winchester Club a very solid and sound infield. The next opponent is Woburn here today.

Two tie for S.O.I. Club championship

The Sons of Italy Club Championship was a 36-hole medal play open to all club members.

St. Eulalia Youth sign up for hockey

Applications for St. Eulalia youth hockey are now being accepted for a two-phase, all-evening hockey program, for all boys 6-14. For boys 6-12, phase 1 consists of ten hours of clinic. The clinic is designed to teach boys skating and hockey to minimize injury during the hockey games in phase 2.

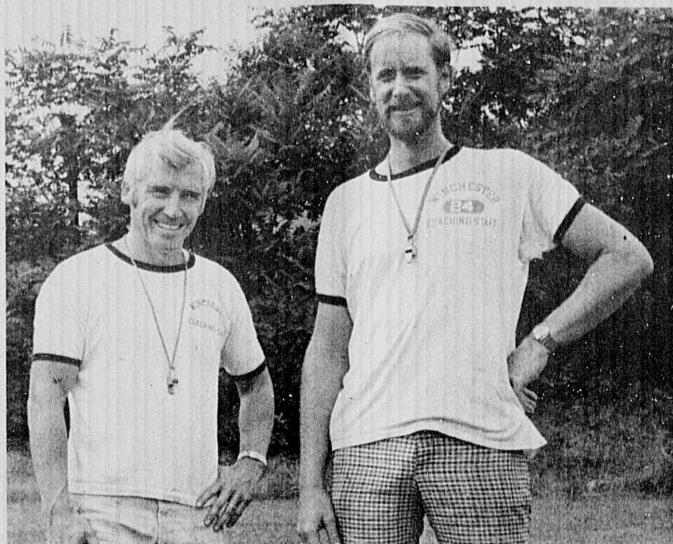

All boys are evaluated at this time to try and establish balanced teams by size and ability.

For boys 13 and 14, phase 1 consists of six hours of drills and each group will compete in three preseason scrimmage games, before they are assigned to a team in phase 2.

Squirt, pee wee and bantam travel teams will also be selected. Call Dave Madigan, 30 Lockeland rd.

If Price and Location Are Your Prime Concerns

Consider Our $37,500 Townhouse in Winchester

When it comes to purchasing a home, most people put price and location first. That's why we think that our 2-BR townhouses in Winchester, at prices ranging from $37,500 to $41,000, are the best condominium buys in the state. The train station is a short walk (travel time to North Station: 12 minutes), the supermarket is just around the corner, and 15 tennis courts are up the street. The units have two floors of well-designed living space plus a basement that can be made into at least two rooms... owners are using them as dark rooms, rec rooms, offices and workshops... you name it. Parking is included and we can arrange excellent financing terms. To top it all off, the condominiums are located on the shore of Wedge Pond, where you can swim, boat and watch the ducks and geese that regularly stop here on their migratory routes. The model is open from noon to 7 p.m. seven days a week or by appointment. Call 729-3389 for information. Located at 60 N Lake Street, a quarter mile from the center of Winchester.

Cullivan, Robert Brosnan, and Mark McGoldrick.

Football players reporting included: seniors, tri-captains Don Ball, Mark Cullen and Duck Allard; Brian Abbanat, Joseph Mahoney, Jimmy Saliba, Thomas Mullins, Joseph Morandi, James Resteghini, Bruce Deskin, Mark O'Brien, John Calarese, Mark Wilson, Thomas Zappala, Stuart Johnis, Kevin Whalen, Phil Stackpole, Ken Errico, Tom Bird, Jay Frongillo, Mark Bezjian, Gregg Fucillo, Robert Hernon, William Monahan, William McGinty, Forrest Abbott, Tim MacDonald, Richard Minutoli, and John McCarthy.

Juniors: Dan Hanlon, Michael St. Michael, Michael Cavaretta, Raymond Brock, Sal Mistretta, Stephen Duffy, Mark Lano, Robert Quinn, Peter Frazier, Austen Mahon, Robert Rascillo, Anthony Mascimonte, Michael Calarese, Stephen Campbell, Keith Perkins, Robert Blasi, Chris Gill, Brian DiRe, James Covino, Robert Maggio, Nick D'Angelo, Joe Gately, and Darren Abbanat.

There is a bit of a problem with several boys having the same last name as others on the squad. However, the only real poser was with the two Don Allards. To avoid confusion senior Don will henceforth be referred to as "Duck", while sophomore Don Allard Junior will be known as Don.

To date there has been only one severe injury although there are many aches and pains after the opening workouts. Speedy Ray Brock sustained a cartilage injury to his knee which will necessitate surgery.

Town Tennis tournament set

Al and Pinky Samoiloff, co-chairman of the 1975 Annual Town Tennis Tournament, have announced that the opening day for play at the William S. Packer Courts will be September 13 at 9 a.m.

At the first committee meeting, Sunday night, it was determined that the combination announcement and entry blanks will not be mailed out. Copies will be available, however, within a week, at the Sport Shop, with Whit Gray, courts supervisor, and from members of the committee.

Events to be contested will be men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles. The tournament will be open to all residents of Winchester and employees of all town departments. Entrants must be 16 years old, minimum, and no entrant may sign up for more than two events. There will be no increases in fees, each entrant requiring the same fee as last year, with 16-18-year-olds being accepted at half the adult fee.

Samoiloff announced that his committee would consist of Joan and Bill Bird, Sue and Clark Cowan, Don Ellis, Lou and Mason Fackert, Stella and Bob Gallant, Ellie and Dick Gorman, Jane Hersee, Ron Keene, Maureen and Jack Noble, Jack O'Callaghan, Brent Outwater, and Jim Stewart.

Deadline for entries in this tournament will be Wednesday, September 10, at 6 p.m. Any entries received at the home of the Samoiloffs, 8 Lockeland rd., later than that date and time will not be honored. A check for the total fees must accompany each entry, the check to be made out to the Winchester Tennis Association, sponsor of the tourney. Entries without correct checks will not be entered in the draw which will take place at the Samoiloffs Thursday evening, September 11.

$200-to-$400* Hifi Sale for Back-to-School Budgets.

A good hifi should be at the top of your shopping list for school "essentials". Because a good music system can transform the most sterile dorm room, the drabest apartment, or even a room in your parent's house, into a really pleasant place to study, relax, and entertain new friends.

So for three weeks only, Tech Hifi is having a Back-to-School Sale featuring several component systems priced in the $200-to-$400 range. Just right for tight budgets.

If you already own a good music system, but would like to make it even better, we've put together an exciting selection of new, used, and demo components. All are from famous manufacturers. All have been specially-reduced just for this sale.

Don't miss Tech Hifi's Back-to-School Sale. It's the biggest hifi sale of the entire school year.

A typical example of the systems on sale this week is the one shown below. It features Ohm E two-way acoustic suspension loudspeakers, the Pioneer Sound Project 300 am/fm stereo receiver, and a dependable BSR 2260X automatic turntable, complete with a base, dustcover, and Shure M81-SC magnetic cartridge. The Pioneer receiver combines plenty of power for the Ohm E's, low distortion, noise-free FM reception, and lots of flexibility in one handsome walnut-finished enclosure. At our sale price of $329, you save $106 off the combined manufacturers' list prices for these quality components.

PIONEER BSR Ohm

As an extra bonus when you buy any system or component at this week's sale, we'll give you an exclusive "Eat hear" coupon passbook that can save you $100 at nine good restaurants in the Boston area!

If you can afford to spend $399, we have your system on sale right now. It will give you deep bass response, excellent reproduction of the high frequencies, great FM reception, and extended life for your records. The loudspeakers are the famous KLH 102's. The stereo receiver is the Nikko 5050, with more than enough power for the KLH speakers, and distinguished FM performance. The turntable is the light-tracking BSR 2260X. This week you'll save $171!

* If your back-to-school budget is bigger than most, you'll find other systems on sale right now priced between $400 and $1200.
